The Rev. Harry B. Wyatt, representing the Clergymen's Community club of Jersey City, today laid before Prosecutor Pierre Garvan a bill of complaint in an effort to prevent the Dempsey-Carpentier bout.A letter accompanying the bill charged the principals and the promoters with conspiring to "pervert the boxing or sparring law and also to violate the crimes act prohibiting prize fights."H. C. Gilson, of counsel for the clergy, said affidavits had been submitted and witnesses were prepared to appear before the grand jury or to testify in whatever action the prosecutor might take.JERSEY CITY, N. Y., June 29.—
Another skirmish—possibly two—of them—was expected today between the International Reform Bureau and Tex Rickard to determine whether Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier should be allowed to wallop each other here Saturday.Three Jersey courts declined yesterday to stop the contest which Rickard calls a boxing bout and the reformers term a prize fight. One vice chancelor told the reformers he could not enjoin a crime from taking place and advised that what the reformers wanted was an indictment.So counsel for the bureau announced that they would appear before Prosecutor Garvan and ask him to tell the grand jury that Rickard, Dempsey, Carpentier et al. were planning criminally to feature the state boxing law and that they should be indicted as conspirators. The grand jury, however, is not scheduled to meet before Friday.Meanwhile other bureau representatives were expected to appeal to the supreme court in Trenton to stop the combat, by an injunction or any other legal paper that would serve the purpose.A committee representing the clergymen's community club of Jersey
City was selected today to lay before Prosecutor Garvan their argument for an indictment against the fighters, their managers and promoter Rickard.
Herbert C. Gilson, who acted as attorney in the restraint action yesterday will be the spokesman. In the meantime it was indicated, other representatives would appeal to the supreme court at Trenton to stop the combat.

responding to an alarm of fire in the North Union block, on North street, this morning, the Morningside fire truck was overturned while going down the hill on Tyler street. The truck turned about on the wet pavement, crashed through a fence, and Michael A. Street, driver, Edward Lynch and Henry Kudlate, firemen, were thrown from the machine. All three men were bruised, but not badly injured.
Lynch and Kudlate are in the hospital. The truck was not badly damaged.Fred Hall, a fireman, was overcome by illuminating gas and taken to the hospital.The fire which started on the fourth floor of the building, resulted in a loss of $40,000, mainly through smoke and water. Six stores, a moving picture theatre, and several offices were put out of

HOW THE BANK FEELS

The per capita Gold holding of the United States was $29.41 on June 1. The per capita Gold holdings of the world is $5. These figures reveal the solid bed rock upon which our Currency and Banking System are founded.That Massachusetts Bank Stocks have resisted the general liquidating movement is no surprise when one considers the prosperity of Banks for two years past, to say nothing of the bright prospects of the future. Money will be no
"drug on the market" for some little time.So the future looks good to the bank-man. He doesn't know it all, but you'll notice he knows enough to go in the House when it rains.
He may see clouds today and occasionally feel some drizzle, but he knows the sun will shine again for you can't keep a good sun down.We share our Prosperity with our Customers. We always did. We always will. As we grow stronger—our Customers grow stronger in the sharing that Prosperity. It's a MUTUAL proposition of a very practical sort.

VIOLATORS OF "DRY" LAW RAIN WAS BADLY NEEDED

Charges of Unlawful Keeping of Liquor for Purposes of SaleThe fruits of a round up by the liquor and vice squads were displayed in the police court this morning, when three defendants, arrested last night, appeared on complaints charging them with unlawful keeping of liquor for the purpose of sale. Officer Michael Winn, of the liquor force, took the stand in each case and testified that various types of illicit refreshment were found by raiding officers on premises belonging to each of the three defendants.Andrew Hamilton, whose case was first called, pleaded guilty to the charge lodged against him. As the offense was his first, he escaped with a fine of $100, but Judge Thomas J. Enright declared that a second appearance would mean a house of correction sentence. Officer Winn told the court that two and one-half gallons of whiskey were located in Hamilton's Salom street variety store, together with one gallon of mixed liquors, including brandy. These discoveries were contained in three bags and six bottles. The local enforcement officers, stated Winn, have received reports to the effect that the defendant has been selling pints at prices ranging from $1.50 to $2.00.Michael Vergos, at whose Adams street home were unearthed two jugs of moonshine, and one bottle of the ferry fluid, asked for a continuance, and this was granted to July 9. Two gallons and one quart, said Officer
Winn, was the total capture from the Vergos residence.Vasilios Hassinios, when he came before Judge Enright, announced that he wanted a lawyer, and was given a continuance for this end. He also will be heard July 9, together with Vergos. One gallon of moonshine, in four bottles and one jug, was the haul made at this defendant's store, located on Adams street. The imposing number of 100 empty bottles of the liquor raiders at the Vergos place, as were four empty jugs."This is where all the drunkenness is coming from," declared one of the enforcement officers this morning, with reference to stores and residences from which moonshine is disposed at "prices within the reach of all." However, this representative of the liquor squad here added that the local force was determined to make a cleanup on offenders of this type.TO PASS FINALLY ON

BAD BEHAVIORLowell dogs have not been behaving as well this year as they did last, according to the records of the board of health. So far this year 20 persons have been bitten by dogs in this city while up to a corresponding period last year only 13 cases of dogbites had been reported.The present month alone has produced seven cases of dogbite. Usually, with the coming of the warm weather the cases become more frequent as the animals are more liable to snap at anybody who annoys them. In the winter months very few cases are reported.For instance, last January not a single case of a person being bitten by a dog was reported and the same was true of January, 1920. In February, 1920, there were no cases reported, but in February of this year three dogs attacked Lowell people. March of 1920 produced one dogbite and March of this year brought forth five. In April of each year three dogbites were

BASEBALL SCANDAL CASE SEPARATE AGREEMENTS

Ben Franklin, One of the Defendants, Too Ill To Appear In Court

CHICAGO, June 29.—Ben Franklin, one of the defendants in the baseball scandal trial, was granted a continuance today when Judge Friend upheld affidavits that he was too ill to appear in court.

Carl Zork, who was ordered Monday to appear today despite an affidavit of sickness filed on his behalf, was present when the hearing was resumed. The defense introduced a motion to quash the indictments on the ground that they were not legal and arguments followed.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
The membership committee of the chamber of commerce held a meeting at the Colonial restaurant at 1215 o'clock today. A large number of the members were present and the meeting proved to be a very lively session. It had been expected that this would be the last meeting of the summer but as a large majority of those present expressed eagerness to go on with the work even during the vacation season, it was decided that the committee would meet once a month throughout the summer. A report submitted to the committee disclosed the fact that the membership of the chamber of commerce has increased to 1301, 191 new members having been received this month and 218 since February 1.

Will Not Be Allowed By Any Group of Railroad Employees

CHICAGO, June 29.—No separate agreement on wages or working conditions can be made by any group of railroad employees in a particular office or shop, apart from the agreement made with that class of employees as a whole over the entire system, according to a ruling of the railroad labor board today. The decision was issued in the case of clerks in general offices in several railroads who wished to negotiate separate agreements.

One of the most disputed points in the negotiation of working agreements on the railroads was said to have been cleared up considerably today as a result of yesterday's railroad labor board decision allowing time and one-half for overtime on roads where such payment was made prior to federal control.

The big four brotherhoods and the great majority of shop craft employees will continue to receive extra pay for time worked after eight hours. Each of the brotherhoods has an agreement for time and one-half for overtime on all roads.

COHAN WANTS BALL CLUB

Retired Actor-Manager Would Be Big League Magnate—Gives Stage Impressions

BOSTON, June 29.—Owner and manager of a big league baseball team is the next probable role of George M. Cohan. The actor-manager has been goodby to the stage because he is opposed to the policy of the closed shop.

See-sawing back and forth on the legs of his chair in true Cohanesque fashion in the bedroom of his suite at the Copley Plaza yesterday, the man who is perhaps the most spectacular figure in American theatrical history discussed his plans for the future and named his favorite plays and players during his lifetime association with the theatre.

The purchase of a baseball club is the only thing that will interfere with his plans for a vacation, Mr. Cohan declared. He has his club all picked, but he is not yet ready to name it.

Refuses to Rate Himself Best

Modestly and sincerely George Cohan refused to consider himself when he named the men who, in his opinion, ranked foremost as comedians and character actors in American theatricals. At the Tremont theatre the manager and two theatrical associates insisted that Mr. Cohan should himself be ranked first, and they were sure that he would not hesitate to consider himself. Accordingly it was suggested that he was perhaps omitting himself through modesty. He laughed. "All I'll say to this is that I can write better songs than any other actor, and I can act a damn sight better than any song writer," he said.

Pay Bainter Greatest Actress

"East Is West" was placed on the pedestal as the greatest actress he had ever seen by Mr. Cohan, and he explained that he chose her because of her versatility. "That girl could play any role in the theatre," he declared.

William Collier was his selection as the greatest farce comedian, and he said he selected him despite his personal friendship rather than because of it. Theodore Roberts was his choice as the greatest character actor, and he met in his association with the stage.

Mike Forbes, a Boston boy, who rose from peddling gumdrops in Keith's old theatre to be the greatest dancer of his day, was Cohan's favorite male dancer, and his own sister, Josephine, was his idea of the greatest woman dancer. Forbes has been dead all of 15 years, and Miss Cohan died about five years ago.

Leo Detrichstein has the best stage presence of any actor, in the opinion of George, and Fred Stone is the best all-around comedian in musical comedy.

In black face Cohan was undecided between Al Jolson and Frank Tinney, but he compromised by awarding the palm to Jolson as an entertainer and to Tinney as a droll laugh-getter. He was also unable to decide between Frank Thomas and Allen Dinehart as his choice for leading man. The late George P. Roadale of the Detroit Free Press was Mr. Cohan's ideal as a dramatic critic.

Names Favorite Plays

"Arizona," the drama of army social life on the frontier, produced by Augustus Thomas, was his selection as the best American drama, and "The Prince of Pilsen" was his idea of the best musical comedy he had ever seen. He selected two of his own plays for pre-eminent places in American drama. "The Tavern," he declared, was the most unique entertainment in the latter-day history of the theatre. It was a drama of dramatic criticism, he declared. "Comedies" although not a box office success, he asserted to be the greatest thing in melodrama in his association with the theatre.

REORGANIZATION OF DRY ENFORCEMENT FORCE

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Reorganization of the federal prohibition enforcement forces along lines previously announced will become effective July 1, Commissioner Haynes said today. On that date the new state directors will succeed the present district directors and the flying column of agents for interstate work, directly under the commissioner, will take the field.

"The country is expecting a vigorous, sane and efficient law enforcement policy," he said. "Much valuable experience has been gained in the first year of the operation of the prohibition organization. Advantage should and will be taken of this experience in order that the work may be put on a firmer basis."

FIRE ALARMS

Fire in a pile of rubbish in Dunmore street last evening was responsible for an alarm from box 13, which was sounded at 11:22 o'clock. At 2:34 o'clock this morning there was an alarm from box 119 for a slight blaze in the store at 135 Salem street.

In Norway the average length of life is greater than in any other country.

OPERATING REVENUES OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC

NEW YORK, June 29.—Total railway operating revenues of the Southern Pacific Co. and its subsidiary lines for 1920 aggregated $282,269,504, an increase of $12,612,232 or 4.48 per cent. over the previous year, according to the report issued today.

Total railway operating expense of $242,113,750 increased $53,725,618 or 25.32 per cent., leaving net railway operating income of $21,312,344, a decrease of $18,364,724 or 46.28 per cent. The constant growth of expenses is disclosed in the operating ratio. This amounted to 85.77 per cent. in 1920, against 78.61 per cent. in 1919, 73.43 per cent. in 1918, and only 62.18 per cent. in 1917.

Delay Exhumation of Mrs. Stover's Body

ELLSWORTH, Me., June 29.—The exhumation of the body of the first wife of Isaac L. Stover, charged with attempting to murder his second wife, Albertine H. Stover, was not performed today, owing to the inability to reach Brooksville of Dr. F. N. Whittier of Bowdoin, who will, however, arrive Friday when the exhumation will be undertaken.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE ALUMNI

The annual election of officers for St. Joseph's college alumni will take place on the evening of July 12 at a general meeting of the alumni, which will be held in the college hall in Merrimack street, while the annual outing will be held on Thursday afternoon, August 11, the place to be chosen later. These dates were set at a meeting of the executive committee held last evening with President Arthur Gaudette in the chair. Other routine business was transacted and committees were appointed to make arrangements for the outing.

PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY

BOSTON, June 29.—L. J. Howard, clerk of the National Scale Co., of Chicopee Falls, today filed a petition in bankruptcy, in behalf of the company under instructions from the stockholders. Liabilities of $172,713 and assets of $152,561, were listed. Unsecured creditors included the Lamb Knitting Machine Co., of Chicopee Falls with two claims totalling $37,129, and the Gaylord Kendall Co., of Chicopee Falls, $22,500.

THINGS THAT DETERMINE THE WORTH OF A CAR

The price of a car and the worth of a car are often widely different.

The worth of your car is determined by its readiness to meet your requirements, its constant roadability, and the permanence of those distinctive features which first attracted you.

When new parts, expert service or timely counsel are needed, the worth of your car is involved. Then you must depend upon the dealer who sold it to you.

Whatever the price may be, the cars we sell possess permanent worth.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem The Monomaniac

JIM JUDSON had a motor boat which usually wouldn't mot—
The engine had catarrhal throat
Which never would grow better;
The pump was tied with wires and strings, and there were leaky piston rings,
And always quite a lot of things
That niled the carburetor.

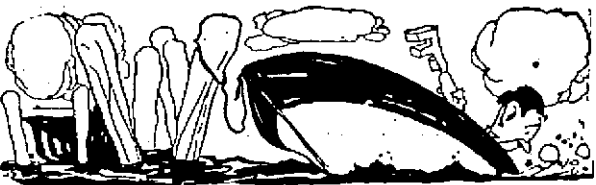

BUT from the springtime to the fall, when Jim had any time at all,
You'd find him in this boat a-sprawl,
All grimy and perspiring;
Beneath the bright and burning sun he'd try to make that motor run,
His tinkering was never done,
He toiled with vim untiring.

BUT how he'd grin and how he'd glow when after hours of work and woe
The engine'd run a mile or so,
With lots of din and clatter;
And when, to punctuate the ride, it gave a cough or two and died,
How patiently he poked and pried
To learn what was the matter.

ONE day a wealthy friend of Jim was taken by a generous whim,
And gave a motor boat to him—
A neat, efficient beauty:
Its engine seemed to hum and purr with "joy of living," as it were,
And never did a thing occur
Unfitting it for duty.

BUT did this make Jim happy? Nay, he soon began to pine away;
He grew more grouchy day by day,
And bored to desperation
For when he need no longer do the tinkering he bankered to,
He died before a year was through
For lack of occupation!

A. W. McCauley Is Still Another
Prominent Man To Give Tanlac
Strong Endorsement

Alexander W. McCauley, 22 Austin st., Chicopee, Mass., manager of the A. G. Spaulding Brothers Sporting Goods Factory, is another man of prominence in the business and civic affairs of the state to come forward with his unqualified endorsement of Tanlac. Mr. McCauley says: "Tanlac has given me new life and energy, increased my weight 25 pounds and put me in better general health than I have been for years, and I certainly think that is enough to prove it a wonderful medicine. I was a pretty sick man for two years. My stomach was all out of order, and then about a year ago I had an attack of influenza that left me in such a shape I could hardly eat anything. No food appealed to me, nothing tasted right, and I ate so little I was losing weight every day. Morning I got up with a sick headache, and often it would last all day. I had terrible spells of dizziness when I actually couldn't stand up, and nights I had such a sharp pain shooting through my back I could get but very little sleep, and always felt nervous and jumpy. Many times the attacks of indigestion were so severe I could hardly endure it. I finally decided to try Tanlac, and I want to say I am completely relieved of my troubles. I eat three good meals a day and enjoy every mouthful, for my digestion is perfect. I haven't had a headache in months, and those dizzy spells have completely left me. I sleep like a log nights and feel fine every morning. Tanlac is a great medicine, and I unhesitatingly recommend it to others."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of its special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., 211 Essex St., Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., W. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

4 KILLED ON CROSSING

Touring Car Struck With Terrific Force By Freight Train
at Sudbury

NORTH SUDBURY, June 29.—Four Maynard residents were killed, two were injured, and two others escaped injury by jumping, when the big touring car in which they were riding was struck with terrific force by a freight train on the grade crossing over the main road from Sudbury to Maynard last night.

The crash, when the automobile and train came together, could be heard for a mile, and those within several hundred yards were startled by the cries of the injured. The automobile was picked up by the pilot of the locomotive and carried for a distance of a quarter of a mile before the train could be stopped. The passengers of the automobile were thrown beneath the wheels of the train or into the lots on the side of the track. Parts of their car were broken off as it was dragged along the track, and when the train stopped little of it was left but a tangled mass of wreckage. The dead were terribly mangled. The injured, who were thrown clear, were taken to the Framingham hospital. The dead were John Stensplesky, 25, of Sudbury street, Maynard; Adam Wasulak, 38, of River street, Maynard; John Lubin, 32, of 30 Acton street, Maynard; and Joe Loposich, 29, of Main street, Maynard. The injured are Joe Mislovich, a poolroom proprietor of Maynard, and John Zeluski, also of Maynard. Those who escaped by jumping are Fred Brown, driver of the car, and Stanley Sienkiewicz, both of Maynard.

Brown, who was badly shaken physically and mentally by the tragedy, told the police that he was driving with his passengers and did not see the train until he was within 15 feet of it. On the front seat of the car with him was Sienkiewicz. They were the only ones in the car who saw the train in time to jump. Both did so. In spite of the fact that Brown jammed his brakes on as soon as the locomotive loomed up in front of him, he was unable to bring the car to a stop. As he and Sienkiewicz jumped, they heard the crash as the train smashed down upon the car and passengers and saw the car picked up and hurled away down the track on the pilot of the locomotive.

Engineer C. T. Davis was running the train. He jammed on his brakes when he saw the car in front of him, but so great was the momentum of the train that he was unable to prevent the tragedy. Conductor Will Blanchett was in charge of the train. As soon as it was brought to a stop the crew rushed to the aid of the injured and began to untangle the wreckage.

Persons who heard the crash also hurried to the scene and the injured were placed in automobiles and sent to the Framingham hospital. Medical Examiner Hunter of Hudson was notified. He was at the point of the accident in a short while and began an investigation.

FINAL EVENT OF WOMEN'S SINGLES

WIMBLEDON, England, June 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Miss Elizabeth Ryan of the United States and Mr. Satterthwaite of England held the center of attention at the British lawn tennis tournament here today. These sterling players met in the final event of the women's singles and the winner will meet Miss Suzanne Lenglen in the challenge round. Critics who have watched the games since the opening of the tournament believed Miss Ryan was the probable winner, as she has played a remarkable game from the beginning.

Max Westman and Miss F. M. Hawkins opposed P. M. Dawson and Mrs. Lambert Chambers in the mixed doubles.

The coast guard cutter Manhattan hastened to the side of the craft, took off her passengers and towed her to a dock, where it was found that engine room, upper deck and interior had been practically wrecked.

Two sailors who were burned were taken to a hospital. Mr. Armour, with Mr. and Mrs. Jordan L. Matt, arrived here Monday on their way to Bar Harbor, Me. The houseboat, it is said, cannot be recommissioned this season.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatre's Own Press Agents
MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Final performances of "The Woman God Changed," the big Cosmopolitan production, will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening, together with the big special musical setting arranged for the occasion. Tomorrow there will be an entire change of program.

The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "An Unwilling Hero," starring Will Rogers, the noted comedian, and "The Midlanders," with pretty Bessie Love in the leading role. The usual excellent bill of surrounding attractions will also be shown.

In "An Unwilling Hero," which presents Will Rogers as a whistling tramp who becomes a hero against his will, the Golden Star is never a "movie" hero. He is always a lovable human being, with much good in his makeup and a tantalizing habit of avoiding work. He whistles his way through life, a beloved vagabond who wins the sympathy of some well-meaning people who try to make a worker of him. How the tramp succeeds in avoiding all their good intentions makes the delightful story that O. Henry wrote under the title of "Whistling Dick's Christmas Stocking," and Will Rogers interprets as "An Unwilling Hero." Molly Malone and John Bowers are the other leading characters in an excellent cast. In "The Midlanders," Miss Love is cast in one of the best roles in which she has ever appeared. The story is one of absorbing interest and to un-employment of these who plan to witness it later. A Johnny Hines comedy, "Torchy's Dig Lead," and the International News will complete the bill.

THE STRAND

Elaine Hammerstein in "Poor Dear Margaret Kirby" and Frank Mayo in "The Magnificent Brute" two of the best pictures of their kind shown here in months, will be thrown on The Strand screen for the last time today. If you haven't seen them, be sure and don't miss the last opportunity today. And don't forget to keep cool.

June Elvidge, who appeared in person at The Strand some time ago, and who lists among her close friends several local people, will appear in the all-star cast that is engaged in the presentation of "Fine Feathers," which will be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The plot of the story will appeal to you strongly. Everybody, of course, is glibly cynical about love in a cottage being nonsense and old-fashioned. But take a case where love really starts in such circumstances, but where the wife soon tires of poverty, and the man frets at his inability to provide his wife with the luxuries she craves. Such a setting provides material for a fascinating picture, and that is just what "Fine Feathers" is. Out of the discontent and the temptation to get rich illegitimately, comes a tragedy to two men, the tempter and the tempted. Be sure and see it.

William Russell is always interesting and entertaining in picture offerings, and his latest, "The Cheater Reformed," is said to be unusually so. It's the second feature for the week-end. Don't forget that there are 500 seats at 10 cents at matinees and 600 at 15 cents at the night performances.

FOR RENEWAL OF SPECIAL TAX STAMPS

There are over 30,000 payers of special taxes recorded on the books of John J. Mitchell, collector of internal revenue, who are receiving forms by mail for the renewal of special tax stamps for the period ending June 30, 1922. Since all these taxpayers must make payment before the last day of July to avoid the imposition of additional penalty, it is hoped that as many as possible will visit the internal revenue offices at an early date and thus avoid the last hour rush. All payments must be made with the return by money order or certified check, payable to John J. Mitchell, collector of internal revenue. No uncanceled checks can be accepted.

Among those who are liable to special tax laws are brokers, proprietors of bowling alleys, billiard rooms, theatres, concert halls and public exhibitions of all kinds. Owners of automobiles operated for hire, and owners of motorboats not used exclusively for trade purposes, should file returns at this time.

with nonsense and tomfoolery, practically every one of the nearly 600 present in the banquet hall took the "raid" seriously and plainly showed their displeasure at what they considered an interruption of the evening's fun.

John Carr, a member of the chamber, was the "agent" who was knocked down and cut about the head. Three men, obviously keen on the scent of liquor, rushed into the hall without warning, grabbed Bert Whittem and rushed him, kicking and protesting, out of the hall.

Toastmaster Hits Out

A few minutes later the three "agents" returned to the hall and, amid catcalls and hisses, worked their way to the head table where John Carr opened conversation with E. Fred Cullen, the latter chairman of the outgoing committee and toastmaster at the banquet, but not one of the few who knew the raid was faked.

"You'll have to come with us," remarked Carr.

"You go to —," returned Toastmaster Cullen.

"You don't get rough or we'll take you out," Cullen immediately started to slip out of his coat and, at the same time, started a straight left for the "agent's" jaw. Mayor Peters, sitting on one side of the toastmaster, and Billy B. Van, sitting on the other, immediately sprang upon the traitor toastmaster and broke the blow. Cullen shook the two men off, however, and, starting another blow at Carr, landed flush on the jaw.

"Throw them out!" came the shout from every corner of the hall. Carr staggered under the force of Cullen's blow and started back toward the toastmaster, evidently not realizing the seriousness of the situation.

Bleeding from Temple

Almost instantly a cup of coffee came hurtling through the air, to be followed by various other articles, snatched from the tables. Something hit Carr over the left temple and down he went, blood trickling from the wound. His two companions grabbed him and the three halted for the door.

A short time later the three "agents" returned, after word had been passed around that the raid was faked, and shook hands with Cullen, who immediately introduced them to the gathering and proclaimed that the "Joke" was on him.

President Warren G. Harding, and Vice President Coolidge addressed the gathering by means of a wireless telephone installed by the American Radio Research corporation. Phonograph records, made by the two leaders of the country during their campaign last year, were played in the company's of $3900 worth of prizes were distributed, each admission ticket being numbered and duplicate numbers being drawn to indicate prize winners. The festivities were cut short by the announcement that owing to the heavy fog the Nantasket Steamboat company would run no boats to Boston after 3:30 p. m., and the gathering broke up in time to allow the picnickers to get home.

Among the prizes distributed to the holders of the "lucky" numbers were: One live pig, one live goat, one live dog, a ton of coal and a multitude of other things donated by various business concerns in Boston. Prizes were also awarded the winners of the various events.

The "stunts" and "sports" also kept the gathering interested throughout the day, the major sport feature seeing the grain board baseball team defeating "Tacks" Hardwick's All-Chamber team to the tune of 7 to 5 in seven innings.

EXTORTION IS CHARGED

Man Told Storekeepers They Had to "Give Grease" for Permits

BROCKTON, June 29.—Joseph T. Galligan, proprietor of a drug store here, was held for the grand jury after a hearing in the police court yesterday on charges of extortion in connection with applications of neighborhood stores for Sunday licenses. Three storekeepers testified to paying money to Galligan. Other witnesses told of alleged attempts of the druggist to collect $50 each from them on representations that they must "give grease" if they hoped to have the board of aldermen grant them permission to keep open on Sundays.

RUSH READJUSTMENT OF FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Rapid progress in the readjustment of freight rates is reported in the current issue of American railroads, the official organ of the Association of Railway Executives.

The Transcontinental freight bureau of Chicago reports, according to the publication, that up to June 9, more than 1200 reductions had been made in west-bound domestic rates, 53,319 reductions in east-bound rates, and 120 reductions in export and import rates.

N. W. Hawkes, chairman of the New England freight association is quoted as reporting under date of June 11 that 245 cases had been passed upon by that association from August 20, 1920 to June 1, of which it was estimated 80 per cent. were reductions.

The Frunk Line association (New York) reported that in trunk line territory from Sept. 1, 1920, to May 31, 2662 rate proposals were taken up, of which 2163 were approved. Most of these were reductions.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty wedding took place this morning when Mr. Michael McInerney and Miss Alice Bourdon, two popular residents of this city, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at a private nuptial mass celebrated in the chapel of St. Joseph's rectory at 5 o'clock by Rev. Aurelien Merrill, O.M.I. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Patrick McInerney, while the bride was given away by her father, Mr. Michel Bourdon. The bride wore white duchess satin trimmed with chamois lace, bridal veil caught up with lilacs of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. At the close of the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 805 Merrimack street, and later the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to the various beaches of New England. They will be at home to their friends at 450 Broadway after July 11.

Parmentier—Gagnon

Mr. Joseph Parmentier, assistant superintendent for the Prudential Life Insurance company of this city and Miss Della Gagnon, a well known young resident of Forge Village, were married June 29, the ceremony being performed at St. John's rectory, North Chelmsford, by Rev. E. J. Dupont. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Armand Rousseau of this city. After the ceremony the couple and their attendants went to Old Orchard beach on a brief trip. Mr. and Mrs. Parmentier will make their home at 612 Merrimack street.

CAR SHOPS WILL CLOSE NEXT WEEK

The officials of the Boston & Maine car shops in Billerica were surprised today when they received orders from headquarters in Boston to shut down the entire plant all next week. It was expected that the big shops would be kept in operation all this week and next.

For some time past the employees have been working two weeks and loafing one, and inasmuch as they were idle all last week they expected to be kept busy for another week. One of the officials of the shop stated today that no special reason was given for the shutdown.

FELL FROM BRIDGE; CUT HIS FINGER

Louis Diette, aged 16 years and residing at 363 Lincoln street, fell from the East Merrimack street bridge into the Concord river last evening and received a cut on the little finger of the left hand, which necessitated three stitches. How the accident occurred is not known, but it is said that Diette received his injury when his finger came in contact with an old wheel at the bottom of the river. He managed to pull himself to shore without assistance and was taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance, and this morning he returned to his home.

APPROVES PURCHASE OF SPALDING PARK

The chamber of commerce has gone on record as approving the purchase of Spalding park by the city for the use of local athletes, providing it can be bought for the assessed valuation, $2500, plus 25 per cent. as allowed by law.

The attitude of the chamber on the matter is set forth in a letter to the municipal council received by Mayor Perry D. Thompson. The letter will be read to the council when that body takes up the matter of purchasing the park.

INDICT MRS. PERRY FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

YARMOUTH, N. S., June 29.—Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Perry was indicted by the grand jury here yesterday for the murder of her husband, Capt. George H. Perry, at their home here in February last.

Judge Mellick presented the evidence in the case to the grand jury immediately after the opening of the June term of the supreme court yesterday forenoon. The jury considered the evidence for the greater part of the day before reporting a true bill.

It was announced that the trial would proceed forthwith. The prosecution will call about 30 witnesses and it is expected that the trial will be lengthy.

Capt. Perry, a retired sea skipper, was found dying on the steps of his home on February 25, an hour after he started home from a neighbor's house. The police were unable to find any direct evidence bearing upon the crime, but after several weeks investigation by the attorney general's department, Mrs. Perry was arrested on the murder charge.

Mansfield Ross, fiancé of Mrs. Perry's daughter, was arrested on the charge of being an accomplice after the fact. He found the captain shortly after returning from a theatre with Miss Perry.

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S DAY POSTPONED

Unfavorable weather caused the postponement of the annual ladies' and children's day which was to have been held by the Vesper Country club at its grounds in Tyngsboro today. The affair will be held tomorrow instead.

The outing is restricted to the members of the club and their families and the committee in charge has arranged a most enjoyable program. The afternoon will be given over to the children with a merry-go-round, a punch and a judy show and plenty of good things to eat as the chief attractions. In the evening the adults will have their supper with a supper from 5.30 to 7 o'clock, a band concert and general dancing.

The entertainment committee which is in charge of the affair includes George H. Runels, Alvah H. Weaver, G. M. Macarthy, R. D. Scribner, R. L. LeMay, F. J. R. B. Wood, E. F. Woodward and G. O. Robertson.

Police Inquiry Under Way

Fred from the weapon found on Nicola Sacco when he was arrested.

James Fitzgerald, for a number of years a pistol expert in an arms and ammunition factory, testified also that he believed the bullet which killed Berardelli, was not fired by Sacco's automatic pistol.

He said that certain marks on the Berardelli death bullet differed from marks on bullets fired from Sacco's weapon.

Both Fitzgerald and Burns testified that the hammer in the revolver taken from "Vanzetti" when arrested showed as much use as the rest of the gun. A gunsmith previously testified for the state that the Vanzetti weapon and new hammer, after Mrs. Berardelli said her husband had left his revolver with a gunsmith for replacement of that part.

LOWELL MAN GIVES EXPERT TESTIMONY

DEHAM, June 29.—James E. Burns, for 30 years ballistics department of the United States Cartridge company of Lowell, testifying for the defense as an expert at the trial of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti for a double murder at South Braintree last year said yesterday that he believed the bullet which killed Alessandro Berardelli had not been fired from Sacco's weapon. An expert for the state previously testified that the examination of the bullet indicated to him that it had been discharged from the 32-calibre automatic pistol found on Sacco when he was arrested.

Burns said that bullets fired from Sacco's pistol showed clean rifling cuts whereas the bullet which killed Berardelli looked as though it had been fired from a pistol with an unclear lead to the rifling.

The death bullet showed indications of being fired from a pistol of the same make and type as Sacco's, but could have been discharged from a weapon of another make, he added. He said there was a foreign pistol made which had a left twist to its rifling similar to that of Sacco's weapon.

Shown the 35-calibre nickel-plated revolver found on Vanzetti, Burns said he did not believe the hammer in it was never had the weapon. A gunsmith had testified for the state that Vanzetti's weapon looked as though it had a new hammer and the state had established through other witnesses that a new hammer had been put in the revolver carried by Berardelli, who was a paymaster's guard.

The defense launched an attack on the testimony for the state of Mrs. Lola R. Andrews, who said she had seen Sacco a few hours before the crime working on the engine of an automobile in which the murderers escaped later. A Quincy policeman testified that Mrs. Andrews had told him she could not identify a man who assaulted her last March as the man she had seen in the automobile. A Quincy newspaper reporter testified that she told him she did not see the face of the man at the automobile. Harry Kupiansky, a Quincy storekeeper, said she told him she could not identify either Sacco or Vanzetti as the man she had seen on the day of the murder.

PREMIERS GIVE VIEWS ON ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY

LONDON, June 29.—(By the Associated Press) A speech by Premier Meighen of Canada on the Anglo-Japanese treaty entirely occupied this morning's session of the conference of Imperial premiers. This afternoon Premier Hughes of Australia will give his views.

Mr. Meighen is understood to have opposed a renewal of the treaty on the ground that it already has served its purpose and to have strongly presented the case of Canada, which is that everything possible should be done for preservation and improvement of the good relations between the United States and the British empire.

It is understood the proposal was made that the question of renewal of the treaty should be postponed several months—in which case it automatically would continue. In order to enable the Canadian and Australian premiers to return home to consult with their colleagues and, if necessary, to have referendums of their people to uphold or reject the proposals settled at the imperial conference.

Refuses to Meet De Valera (Continued)

Maurice Dockrell, member of parliament for the Rathfriland division of Dublin county, a Unionist supporter of the coalition government except as to its Irish policy at home, said Sir Robert Woods, member of parliament for Dublin university, and Andrew Jameson, De Valera in his reply to Mr. Lloyd George's invitation for a conference with the Ulster premier and the British prime minister for an Irish settlement in which the republican leader indicated he deemed Irish unity essential to a lasting peace, said he was consulting "with such of the principal representatives of our nation as are available," and added:

"Before replying more fully to your letter, I am seeking a conference with certain representatives of the political minority in this country."

In his reply to the republican leader's invitation, Sir James said:

"It is impossible for me to arrange any meeting. I have already accepted the prime minister's invitation to the London conference."

Sir Robert Woods accepted De Valera's invitation. The answer of Sir James Craig added that he would publish telegrams in order to obviate a misunderstanding in the press between a namesake in the southern Irish parliament and himself. The theory advanced here is that De Valera's invitation to a conference was really sent to Prof. Sir James Craig of Dublin but that, when his attention was drawn to the confusion in names, he decided to fly at higher game.

Conference on July 4th

BELFAST, June 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Eamonn de Valera's choice of the American Independence day for the proposed conference between representatives of southern and northern Ireland is stressed today by the Irish News of this city. A Nationalist journal, which expresses the hope that Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, will accept the invitation. It says representatives of southern Ireland probably would be quite willing to do so.

The Northern Whig, unionist, says the world at the present time is having an object lesson, not in the essential unity of the north and south, but their essential unlikeness.

"De Valera complains that the British government has set aside the principle of national self-determination," the Northern Whig says. "That he should still trot out that question, the frequent exposure of the gross inconsistencies which in Ireland it has been employed to cloak and dissemble, suggests there is as much probability of the Ethiopian getting a white skin or the leopard becoming spotted as of the Sinn Féin being influenced by counsels of sweet reasonableness. Ulster parliament and the Ulster government are in being as a result of the logical application of that principle."

cases, but May of this year produced only two. June of last year recorded two cases and June of this year seven. The number of cases for the last six months of 1920 were as follows: July, 7; August, 3; September, 2; October, 2; November, 3; and December, 6. The total number of cases for the year was 31.

Few Rabies Cases

Not a single case of dogbite reported to the local health department for the past several years has developed into rabies. Few of the dogs which bite people carry any infection but bite simply because they have been annoyed or irritated.

As soon as a case of dogbite is reported to the board of health, Dr. Walter A. Sherman, animal inspector, is notified and he immediately takes the offending animal into custody. The dog is put in quarantine for a certain period of time to ascertain whether it has any indications of rabies or infection. If there is a strong suspicion that there is rabies, the animal is killed and its head sent to the state department of health for examination. In this way it is definitely determined whether or not the dog had rabies.

If such proves the case, the person who was bitten by the dog is advised to take an anti-rabies treatment, which consists of a series of inoculations. This usually proves effective. The only instance where a dogbite necessitated this treatment locally as far as Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the board of health can recall, is that of a Mrs. Chamberlain of Rock street, who took the treatment in Tewksbury some years ago.

Rabies is an acute infectious disease of animals and is communicable to man. All animals are liable to the disease, particularly the wolf, cat and dog. The disease is chiefly propagated by the latter.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

Debate Upon Renewal of Anglo-Japanese Alliance Begins at London

LONDON, June 29.—Debate upon the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, in which the attitude of the overseas dominions of Great Britain will be explained, began at the imperial conference today. Arthur Meighen, the Canadian premier, was expected to open the debate, laying the views of Canada before the conference.

Lord Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, laid before the conference yesterday the details of the proposed renewal of the alliance, together with the political situation bearing on the subject. A. J. Balfour, lord president of the council, insisted that the alliance treaty must be brought into line with the requirements of the League of Nations, saying that there should be no special British interests observed, nor should there be an imperial aspect to the convention.

DISABLED VETERAN A CHORUS ALL BY HIMSELF

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The federal board for vocational education has discovered a man whose vocation apparently is to be a chorus all by himself. He is Joseph Kaufman, disabled veteran, and is able, the announcement asserts, "to sing in three voices at one time," sounding like "three men side by side, singing in unison." Only one similar case has ever been known in the United States.

Kaufman is described also as "an accomplished and capable saxophone player" and has been placed in a Minneapolis school of music to prepare for a career in vaudeville.

GRANITEVILLE MAN MISSING FROM HOME

Peter Marshall, a Graniteville resident, has been missing from his home since the 4th of the present month, and all efforts to locate him have proved futile. The police here have made extensive investigations, but the man seems to have vanished completely. Marshall left his dwelling on June 1, stating that he was going to Haverhill or Cambridge. He departed, and seemingly from that moment disappeared from the earth. Street car employees, police officers, patrolling routes, merchants, everyone who might be expected to notice him on his way from his residence, have been queried, but can shed no light on the mysterious nature of his disappearance.

Marshall is described as being fifty-eight years of age, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and weighing 150 pounds. He is dark of complexion, smooth faced, and had a right arm and leg which were disfigured as the result of an accident. When he left home he was wearing a dark suit with a light stripe, together with a khaki shirt and straw hat. If he is located, it is requested that the Abbott Worsted company be notified. The press has been asked to aid in this search.

BUSINESS STILL DULL AT CARTRIDGE SHOP

With the exception of the box shop all other departments of the United States Cartridge Co. will shut down next Saturday for two weeks for the annual inventory and general repairs throughout the plant.

Business has been a little quiet at the shop for some time, but one of the officials stated today that new orders are coming in and that it is expected that as soon as operations resume some of the old help who were laid off during the past few weeks, will be given employment.

The payroll of the company numbers about 900 at the present time as against over 5000 during the war when three shifts were kept busy. During the past few weeks about 75 of the employees have been dropped.

TO AID MOTION PICTURE BUSINESS

MINNEAPOLIS, June 29.—Two proposals to form corporations to aid the motion picture business were before the closing session of the annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, today.

Centralization of distribution of films could be the purpose of a proposed five million dollar corporation of independent distributors. Another plan calls for raising two million dollars by the theatre owners for a national advertising campaign. Both these proposed organizations would carry on a fight against the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation which was attacked by delegates as a monopoly.

VICTORY DISPUTED

In last night's game, the St. Peter's had a small item stating that they defeated the Unity A. C. hall team, the score being 4 to 1. The manager of the Athletics visited to state that this game is a present under protest owing to a dispute in the seventh inning, when with two men on base, Smith hit right, scoring both men. One of the runners accused of not touching third was immediately called out by the umpire on bases. This caused the manager of the Athletics to leave the field, thus ending the game.

The manager of the Athletics wishes the president of the City League to call a meeting at the earliest possible date.

The following Unity players will play against the Athletics Sunday on the grounds, and are requested to report for practice Thursday at 6.30 sharp: Britton, C. Mullin, P. McCardie, Th. Willard, B. Robinson, G. Trask, B. Money, H. Conant, and W. C. Fitch. F. D. McARDLE, Mgr. U.A.C.

STUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Alice Arsenault, aged 3 years and residing at 2 Winton street, was struck by an automobile at the junction of Westford and Chelmsford streets yesterday afternoon and received a severe cut in the leg. The driver of the machine, Frederick Gokey of 53 Swift street, claims the little girl ran from behind another car into the path of his auto. The child was treated at the Lowell Corporation hospital.

AT CAMP DEVENS

Sergt. Earle G. Schuler, recruiting representative for the citizens military training camp at Devens, arrived in Lowell last evening, to receive an allotment of 100 recruits. Nine hundred of the twelve hundred vacancies have already been filled, he states, as applications have poured in from every part of the New England corps area. The camp will continue during August, and will be divided into three sections, the red, white and blue.

CONFIRM SALE OF TRACTION SYSTEM

PROVIDENCE, June 29.—Decreases confirming the sale of the United Traction system to the joint reorganization committee managing the rehabilitation of the old Rhode Island company trolley system were entered in the superior court today. It is expected that within a few days the receivers of the Rhode Island Co. will hand over the lines to the New United Electric Railways Co. The old company intended by former President Mellen of the New Haven road to run for 99 years the state's main traction lines, will then remain only the owner of a few tracks in and around Woonsocket.

well, workmen will be busily engaged erecting the eighteen huge illuminated victory arches which will adorn the common. Today poles and all other electrical wiring will be completed, while stands and booths will go up tomorrow. The model victory arch which was to have been put in place today at the city hall steps may not get into position until tomorrow because of the rainy weather.

Sergeant J. B. Murphy, a Montana cowboy who enlisted with the Canadian forces at the outbreak of the European war and saw hot service throughout the conflict, arrived in this city today in charge of an exhibit of war relics and official battle photographs which is said to outlive anything of its kind in existence. The feature will be one of the sixty odd amusement attractions at the American Legion post's giant carnival scheduled for the South common during the Independence Day season. Admission will be free.

An announcement dealing with the exhibit was issued this morning from the carnival committee office, on Central street, reading as follows:

"Through the efforts and with the cooperation of the local post of the American Legion, the public is offered an unusual opportunity to visit an educational exhibition calculated to show new war knowledge upon many details of the late world war and by its lessons to inspire new fervor and patriotism, as well as an appreciation of what was accomplished by those of our boys who went over."

"The local post, through its carnival manager, Francis J. Roane, has secured for public exhibition, commencing next Friday night on the South common, a collection of authentic war relics and official photographs of battle scenes, in which Lowell boys played such an important part. The display comprehends various features that never have been displayed heretofore.

"The exhibition will be here during the Legion's entire celebration, and no general admission will be charged. Exhibits are under the management of C. C. Rose, and Sergeant J. B. Murphy."

EVENING AND AFTERNOON

Race For Manhasset Trophy

NEW YORK, June 29.—Possession of the Manhasset Bay challenge trophy depended on the third and final yacht race on Long Island sound today. All three contestants were tied at eight points each. The challenging yachts Hayseed IV of the New Rochelle Yacht club and the Hayseed V of the Corinthian Yacht club, Marblehead, Mass., each won one race and finished third in the other. The defending yacht Nahma of the Indian Harbor Yacht club was second in each event.

Peggy Joyce's Jewels Seized

CHICAGO, June 29.—Jewels valued at nearly $250,000, owned by Peggy Hopkins Joyce, whose husband, J. Stanley Joyce, wealthy lumberman, recently instituted proceedings for annulment of their marriage, have been seized by treasury agents in New York city, according to word received here. Among the articles is a diamond tiara valued at $100,000, it was said. In his annulment proceedings Joyce asks nearly $1,000,000 worth of jewelry which he said he had purchased for Peggy in foreign countries.

Mrs. William Goddard Dies at 78

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 29.—Mrs. William Goddard died here today in her 78th year. She was the daughter of Thomas A. and Mary Jane Fuller Jenckes and the widow of Col. William Goddard, for years chancellor of Brown university and a member of the firm of Goddard Brothers, the largest cotton mill owners in the state. Mrs. Goddard was the leader of Providence society and was well known in New York and Paris social circles.

Delegates To International Congress

WASHINGTON, June 29.—President Harding has appointed the following as delegates to the 16th international congress against alcoholism to be held at Lausanne, Switzerland, next August. The Rev. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, Washington; Ernest H. Cherrington, Westerville, Ohio; Deets Pickett, Washington; Monsignor M. F. Foley, Baltimore; E. L. G. Hosenthal, South Manchester, Conn.; the Rev. Dr. Charles Scanlon, Pittsburgh; Dr. A. J. Barton, Alexandria, La.; George F. Cotterill, Seattle, Wash.; Miss Cora Frances Sloddard, Boston, and Mrs. Lena Low Yost, Morgantown, W. Va.

Ministerial Crisis In Italy

ROME, June 29.—Solution of the ministerial crisis resulting from the resignation of the Giolitti cabinet, is not expected until next week. King Victor Emmanuel has consulted the vice presidents of the Italian senate regarding the situation, but Signor Casanovi, socialist, one of the vice presidents, refused to accept the invitation of the king, fearing that such action would tend to his party. On the other hand, Signor Mussolini, leader of the Fascisti or extreme nationalists, announced he was ready to accept the monarch's invitation, although he was a republican.

Schooner Esperanto Again Sinks

HALIFAX, N. S., June 29.—The Gloucester fishing schooner Esperanto, whose bow had been raised above the water by the crew of the wrecking trawler Fabia, sank late last night when something went wrong with the inflated pontoons that had been used to buoy the schooner.

WHAT HOLDS MEN BACK

MADE IN MANY CASES, AND MAKES THEM WEAK, NERVOUS AND IRRITABLE WHEN THEY OUGHT TO BE IN THEIR BEST FORM.

As men grow older the iron in their blood is apt to thin out and as a consequence their nerves and will power become weakened and they may rapidly lose both bodily and mental vigour. A New York physician says that more than one-half the population of America perishes before middle age and that one of the chief contributory causes is the terrible waste of human life is the depleting of iron in the blood. There are 30,000,000,000,000 red blood corpuscles in your blood and each one must have iron. When your blood is starving for iron, no more tonic nor stimulants can put you right; starvation must have iron the same as a starving person must have food—iron is red blood food. But when you take iron be sure to take organic Nuxated Iron and not metallic or mineral iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is made merely by the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, while organic Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach and apples. It quickly helps make rich red blood and revitalizes your worn-out, exhausted nerves. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and the letters "N. I." on every label. Your money will be refunded if the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.—Adv.

BRITISH-CANADIAN WAR VETERANS

At a meeting of the British-Canadian Great War Veterans' association held last evening in the Free church, Middlesex street, it was voted to drop the name of the organization and become affiliated with the British Great War Veterans of America. Routine business was transacted and the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: J. A. McFarlane, president; J. Walsh, vice president; R. Smith, secretary; J. Fairburn, treasurer; W. Dixon, recording secretary; J. Fairburn, Joseph White and Herbert Lancaster, relief committee; Emilio Grondin, Geo. Wesley and W. Axon, entertainment committee; W. S. Lawrence, W. S. Dawson and George Wesley, investigating committee; Herbert Lancaster, Benjamin G. Walsh and George Wesley, auditing committee and W. S. Dawson, press committee.

Stockmen are exterminating the few remaining herds of wild horses which still roam the high ranges of Arizona, New Mexico, Southern Utah and Oregon. Wild horses are a menace to the domestic stock when turned out to pasture on the range. They consume fodder, break down fences and lure valuable animals from ranches. Expert rifle shots are engaged to hunt down these wild horses.

Airplane police to regulate traffic, patrol the lake front for persons and vessels in distress, assist in hunting bank robbers and automobile bandits, and to perform various other duties, will be added to the Evanston, Illinois, police department.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

The Associated Press is entitled to the use of the name of this paper and also the local news published herein.

KEEPING COOL

Unless the meteorological records of previous years are unreliable as a basis of prognostications, the next three weeks are destined to bring us the hottest weather of the year. It is during these weeks that the sun rides high in the heavens and sends down its direct rays to parch and burn.

There is something more than discomfort in the days when the mercury in the thermometer seems attempting to climb out of the top of its tube. There is a very real peril to many not in the most serious health as hospital records testify.

Those who have studied the subject agree that much of the danger of succumbing to the effects of the heat lies in psychological causes. There are certain temperaments that are in a special degree affected by the general discomfort that prevails. A condition of irritability brings an added burden for the heart to bear which it does not always assume willingly.

In most cases for avoiding hot-weather ills is the advice, "Don't worry." Better advice cannot be given for any season of the year. Unfortunately, like most other advice, it is more easily given than followed.

Years ago, so an old story tells us, an emperor of China found himself melancholy, morose and with nothing in the world quite worth living for. He sent for some of his wise men. He set his sad plight before them. It was up to them, he told them, to find a way for making existence more bearable for him. They debated the problem long and earnestly. Finally they told their lord and master that they would be well with him if he would obtain the shirt of a happy man and wear it.

Then the wise men found they had put their foot in it. They were sent forth to find a happy man and return with his shirt within a stated period on pain of being put to death if they failed in their mission.

The anxious commissioners searched the highways, byways and hedges of the empire for a happy man. Not one was to be found. On the last day of the period which had been allotted them they were trudging wearily back to the capital of the empire, and the sad prospect of having to part with their heads on the morrow.

From somewhere there came to them the sound of a man's voice breaking now and again into little care-free song. Occasionally there would be a burst of joyous laughter. The commissioners perked up their ears. Here was a phenomenon worth investigating. Could anyone who could sing with such abandon and laugh with such unrestrained glee possibly be otherwise than happy? They concluded not. They set out quickly to find the source of these unmistakable evidences of happiness. They found it in an individual lying flat upon his back by the side of a stream, yawning with the joy of living. They asked him if he were happy. He replied that he was the happiest person in the world. They set upon him to drag him and his shirt before their emperor, but alas, they discovered that he had no shirt.

The lesson, if there is one, is to forget as far as possible, in the heated days that are coming, the material cares of life, the ways and means of daily existence, and try to be happy by forgetting that there are things, and many of them, that we want but cannot have, and, by simply being care-free, avoid the menaces that come to health when strange strains are being done by the temperature records. Heat waves may come and heat waves may go, but their discomfort and injurious effects will fall but lightly on the man who adapts his clothing and his diet to the season, who avoids unnecessary exposure, avoids worry and keeps mentally cool.

CONCORD RIVER NUISANCE

That portion of the Concord river which we can call our own, has become utterly again. Not in the sense that the Arkansas and the Mississippi caused trouble and disaster, has the Concord become obnoxious. No, the Concord has rarely overflowed its banks and indeed if it did, there would be no need perhaps for this complaint, which is based upon the noxious odors arising from the lower river at the present time.

When the water is low, especially on Sundays and whenever the river is idle for a while, the river from the tannery above the Rogers street bridge to the Merrimack smells like an open sewer. While the mills are idle the water is stored up for future use and as a result, sometimes the bed of the river is partly bare.

That section of the river from the tannery down to the Andover street bridge is filled with accumulations of filth which should be removed. If the scourings of the beam house and tannery are sent out into the river, and we are informed that much goes there that is fit only for the sewer—it is a matter for the local board of health to take up with the American Hite and Leather company.

Under present conditions the section of the river mentioned is so obnoxious as to be a menace to the public health. Something should be done about it. It is presumed that the state board of health should have jurisdiction over a matter of this kind, and if its good offices can be enlisted for the purpose, the local board might well start the movement.

It is time the residents along the banks of this river were protected against the nuisance and menace to health, constituted by the foul odors arising from the part of the river mentioned.

The first step towards an abatement of the nuisance is to find the cause and start to eliminate that. If the tannery is mainly responsible, it should be compelled to use the city sewers rather than the river and if any sewer empties into the part of the river complained of, then steps should be taken to provide a remedy in the interest of the public health.

TEACH GIRLS TO SWIM

Now that the municipal bathhouse is open, arrangements should be made to afford young girls an opportunity to learn to swim under conditions that would ensure their absolute safety.

The drowning of two young ladies in the river a few days ago should cause every girl in Lowell who has not already learned to swim to seek an early opportunity of so doing.

The public bathing place on the Merrimack offers ample opportunity for instruction in the art of swimming. All that is necessary to carry the project into effect and to make our local swimming beach a real and lasting benefit to the community, is to get instructors and then appoint fixed periods during which girls who want to learn to swim will have exclusive attention at the bathhouse. The park department can do a vast amount of good by offering inducement for women to go to the bathhouse and take instruction in the art of swimming. If a girl learns only to kick vigorously with hands and feet, she can bring herself promptly to the surface even after sinking in deep water; but those who know nothing of swimming, go down like a stone and make little or no exertion to come to the surface.

Every boy and girl at school should be taught the art of swimming. It is a protection against drowning that should be provided by every community. The schools overlooked it, but during the summer months the park department can do much to meet this public necessity. Volunteer instructors can be had if need be, so that all the park department will have to do is to provide the opportunity and the proper supervision by life guards.

PRICE OF GAS

Apparently the Courier-Citizen would rather not see a reduction in the price of gas than see it come as a result of any agitation on the part of The Sun, particularly when this paper was the first to announce the gas company's decision to reduce the price of gas just as soon as it can reach definite conclusions as to costs. We all know the story of the poor grapes which our neighbor is again illustrating.

It cannot have escaped the attention of the public during the past few weeks, that the Courier-Citizen has been playing the role of the clucking hen guarding a newly hatched chick. The old lady has been trying to get the youngster to grow; but finding it too weak to make any impression in that way, she has decided to do the crowing herself.

EXACT FAVORABLE TERMS

The Boston Post makes a good suggestion when it states that before refunding the war loans to European nations, we should exact conditions that would prevent the nations involved from building up great armaments against us. By refunding the debt, and giving them a long time in which to pay, we shall assist these nations to put us as competitors in armament and in trade. Why not exact the terms that we want before entering into an agreement that gives them the use of about ten billions of our money for a long period of years? The fact that our people need the money is of course an additional reason why we should move with caution in the matter. Then nations want easy terms from us. Why not exact reciprocal conditions from them so as to prevent them building up armament with our money?

MISS ALICE, M.C.

Alice Robertson, member of congress, says she is against anti-tobacco legislation, and adds that "many reformers should be reformed."

Woman suffrage is demonstrating that no organization of women can speak for all women, just as no men's organization can speak for all the men in the United States.

Miss Alice is opposed to woman suffrage, although she was among the first to seek public office after women were given the vote. She is bringing credit to herself and her sex by her tact and judgment in Washington.

Stop the ocean tides, stop the moon in her lunations, stop the earth in her rotations before the sun, stop the sale of hooch and home brew, but don't prevent the dead game sports from taking a few millions from the easy marks who want to see the Dempsey-Carpenter fight.

Spain is importing minnows from Australia to destroy the larvae of mosquitoes which are spreading malaria in certain parts of the country. It seems that if the minnows have a bunch of that kind, their services are needed much nearer than Spain.

Easily Explained

A 11-year-old girl, who came to this country from Poland two years ago, won a prize in Chicago for the best essay on "Americanization." This is easily understandable. One born in America takes its institutions and benefits for granted; the immigrant correctly estimates its blessings by comparing them with laws and customs of the old world.

Dish-Washing

An Ohio man, suing for divorce, complains, among other things, that his wife made him help with the dishes. The judge told him it's a duty, even a privilege, to be helpful in that way. That judge ought to get the vote of every woman in his county when he runs again. Of all the drudgery she performs, there is none so trying as washing dishes three times a day. It's a job everyone tries to run away from, but ma, she sticks. Help her this evening.

Auto Parking System

In the neighboring city of Nashua, N. H., as well as in numerous other places, automobilists are forced to park their cars in the direction that they intend to take upon starting up again. The strange and mysterious manner in which motor cars are parked on Market street would seem to indicate that an application of the principles in use in other cities would prove of benefit. Why not have the cars back in, instead of out? Would not this result in less accidents, less confusion, less general bother and danger? Autos are slaughtering their scores and even hundreds every day. Anything which would, even slightly, bring down the toll, is well worth trying out.

Before and After

When Phyllis slipped and almost fell, we two were wed and one, I said: "My dear, I cannot tell how sad I am at what you've done! Are you unhurt—quite sure, my dear? Is there not some place, far or near where I can go to get you aid? You fib to soothe me, I'm afraid!"

When Phyllis stumbles now, since we together until death must be, I clamp my lips together tightly. That I may not exclaim fondly: "Good gosh! As often as you've been along this path with cinders in, you seem incapable of knowing where you are going!" —Farm Life.

The Berry Season

Strawberries, blackberries, raspberries, gooseberries, all on the stands now—and in another month or so the real berry season when you "pick your own" will be luring us from the city to the woods and fields with lunches and pails for the fruit we shall capture. There are many marvelous berry patches in the country around Lowell. What an opportunity for exploring these next months will offer! Thinking of berry-picking, one thinks of Robert Frost's homely lines, which, by the way, refer to the territory "North of Boston":

"You ought to have seen what I saw on my way
To the village, through Mortenson's pasture today;
Blueberries as big as the end of your thumb,
Real shy-blue, and heavy, and ready to drum
In the cavernous pail of the first one to come!"

THE LANTANGE LABORATORY, INC.

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 29.—A charter has been issued by the commissioner of corporations to the Lantange Laboratory, Inc., of Lowell, with a capital stock of $10,000, consisting of 400 shares of common stock at $100.

The new concern will manufacture and deal in druggists' supplies of all kinds. Joseph T. Lantange, of 225 Riverside street, Lowell, is president of the new corporation, and holds 150 shares of its stock. The treasurer is William A. O'Malley, of 155 Pleasant st., Braintree, owner of an equal number of shares. James J. Kerwin, of 229 Fairmount street, owner of two shares of stock, makes up with the other two the board of directors.

Fifty shares of stock are to be paid for in cash, 150 with merchandise, and the remaining 100 with trade marks.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Considerable publicity has been given to the fact that the girls of the graduating class of the Charles W. Morse school appeared in midday blouses and ordinary skirts at their annual commencement exercises, thus dispensing with the elaborate and often costly graduation gowns that are usually worn on such occasions. However, the school in the Highlands didn't originate the idea. Miss Provencer, principal of the Green grammar school, tells me. Her girls of this year's graduating class appeared on the platform wearing middie and skirts two days before the Morse school graduation. Miss Provencer had been working on the idea for several months and had also hoped to have the boys of the class appear in white trousers and shirts. However, it was found that the cost of the trousers was too great to warrant their purchase, especially in view of the fact that they would probably be used only once or twice.

Genial Joe Lamoreux has been well placed at police headquarters by the author of the "Main Street" movement. Ready at all times to assist those who come to the station for information or assistance, he fulfills in admirable fashion that most honorable of positions in a democracy, that of public servant. In too many cities and towns, the members of the police force conceive themselves to be a form of royalty, to whom the poor plebeian shall bow and profess all humility. When men, women, or children come in Officer Lamoreux, they are aided, not made miserable. He is eager to make light the burdens which have brought them reluctantly to the police. He cannot be too much praised for his kindness, his obligingness, so rare, alas, among some of those supposed to be public servants, honored with office by My Lords the people, who are the kings in a real democracy. American boys died in France for such democracy; men like Lamoreux uphold it in times of peace.

Edith Wharton has been awarded the pain, by a committee of American literateurs, for having produced the means certain that out of the year in this country. However, some dissent developed among the illuminated as to whether her work was in fact superior to the "Main Street" of Sinclair Lewis. The most vital thing, however, is that both works present a civilized outlook upon life, and are a million miles ahead of the horrible bunkum peddled by Messrs. Harold Bell Wright, Robert W. Chambers, et al., to say nothing of the festive J. P. Peter. The lovers of reading which is above the five-year-old level probably know already that both "Main Street" and "The Age of Innocence" are to be had at the Lowell public library. To those who are not aware of this fact, however, it will be of interest. Why not read both works, and determine for yourself which possesses the superiority? For it appears certain that out of the pair, is. And surely this decision is slightly more vital to America than the outcome of the Dempsey-Carpenter slambangfest. Not that we would disparage physical prowess. The Greeks, lovers of the fine arts, producers of unparalleled things in sculpture, philosophy, and drama, were at the same time enthusiasts for sport, including boxing. It is pleasant to realize that Librarian Chase has made a discriminating selection of the real noteworthy volumes of the year, and that there are several copies to be obtained of her new book. Floyd Dell's much discussed "Moon Call" is also on the shelves, by the way.

INSTRUCTORS AND TEACHERS EXCLUDED
(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 29.—Teachers and instructors in the public schools are not entitled, in the event of injury, to the benefits of the workmen's compensation act. This is established under a ruling recently made by William W. Kennard, chairman of the industrial accident board, which administers the act.

The question arose in the case of a New Bedford man who was employed as an assistant instructor in athletics in one of the city school buildings. While attempting to show his charges how to use the "horse" properly, the instructor slipped and fell, breaking his arm.

It was established that the man was regularly employed by the city; that the accident occurred while he was in the proper discharge of his duties; and that he has been incapacitated for nearly five months, the injury having proved a complicated one, requiring retraining and resetting.

Notwithstanding these facts, Chairman Kennard has ruled that such employment is not that of a laborer, workman or mechanic, within the meaning of the workmen's compensation act, and that the city, accordingly, is not liable to pay the compensation. This ruling undoubtedly means that no instructor in the public service can hereafter recover compensation under the act.

"BOOTLEGGING" BLAMED FOR DRUNKENNESS

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, June 29.—That crime is again on the increase in Massachusetts, and jail populations, depleted during the busy days of the war, are again running into high figures, is stated today by Frank A. Brooks, of Williamsburg, chairman of the state board of parole.

At the state farm in Bridgewater, where "drunks" are sent, the number on June 1 was 335, an increase of just 109 over the same date of last year. "Bootlegging" is blamed by the prison authorities for the charge at this particular institution.

The Massachusetts reformatory, to which are sent males less than forty years of age who are convicted of minor offenses, housed 470 prisoners on the first day of the month, as compared with 270 one year ago. At the state prison, however, the increase was negligible, the number going from 512 last year to 518 this year. In all of the institutions in this state there were on the first of this month 2320 male prisoners, an increase of about 600. At the women's institutions, the number dropped from 153 to 173.

"Win or Lose, We'll Be Happy!" Says Wife of Carpentier

MADAME GEORGETTE CARPENTIER AND BABY JACQUELINE

PARIS, June 29.—Madame Georgette Carpentier has just received another letter from Georges. He writes her nearly every day from Mauthausen, L. 1, where he is training for his heavy-weight championship battle with Jack Dempsey.

"Georges says that Dempsey is the favorite," she said to me, glancing at the letter. "But, nevertheless, that he means to win. He has a plan that in Dempsey's camp the walls are covered with posters which call the champion the 'man-killer'; but that he says does not worry him."

"He writes, too, that he has been a little tired, and has been taking things easily. He does not like the climate, but he is in such physical condition that a few days' hard work is all that

PENN. R. R. SCHEDULES

Company Announces Agreement Reached With 40,000 Employees

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—The Pennsylvania railroad yesterday announced that it had notified the United States labor board of an agreement reached between the company and the representative of its employees in engine and train service on regulations and working conditions affecting these classes of employees. More than 40,000 workers, including engineers, firemen, hostlers, conductors, trainmen and switch-tenders, were concerned. The company in a statement said:

"These regulations were negotiated by the representatives of the employees and the representatives of the management who are members of the joint reviewing committee of the Pennsylvania system."

"The new regulations and working conditions are in the form of a system scheduled for the employees concerned. Hereafter the men in engine and train service have been working under two different schedules, one for the former lines east and one for the former lines west. There were many points of difference between the two schedules and many questions involved in each of the two schedules, due to the fact that prior to and during the war the two parts of the system were not operated as a unit."

NOT GUILTY OF COUNTERFEITING

PORTLAND, Me., June 29.—Thomas Vella and Laborio Iacono of this city and Philip Monasteri of Biddeford were found not guilty of a charge of counterfeiting, after a long hearing yesterday afternoon before United States Commissioner Chapman.

A $2 bill which had been raised to be used as evidence against them, Vella is alleged to have tried to pass the bill in Biddeford Monday afternoon. It had been given to him by Monasteri's wife to be changed, and Iacono was alleged to have been his companion on the tour of the Biddeford stores.

Ciphers had been added to the face of the bill by means of acid, it is alleged, and on the back the word "two" had been erased and "twenty" written with pencil.

James Christenson, proprietor of a candy store, noted the pencil marks on the back and caused the arrests. Monasteri said that a check was given him for $150 and that he cashed it at a Portland bank. When Vella and Monasteri were asked by the commissioner to write their names and the word "twenty" Monasteri said he could not write the latter word and Vella did it with difficulty. Both were then discharged.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 29.—Nicholas De Luck of Bangor, now serving four months in the Penobscot county jail for receiving stolen goods, has petitioned the governor and council for a pardon, declaring he never was guilty of the crime.

Rosina Mango, otherwise called Rosina Capodilupo of Portland, now in the Cumberland county jail for larceny, also desires pardon. She writes that she is a housewife, mother and homemaker and is sorely needed by her husband. She says that the incarceration is greatly interfering with her health.

PRUDENTIAL COMPANY INVITES INVESTIGATION

NEWARK, N. J., June 29.—Directors of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, recently under fire before the Lockwood legislative committee which investigated housing conditions in New York, yesterday requested the New Jersey commissioner of banking and insurance to examine its affairs since 1902, and to invite commissioners of other states in which the Prudential does business to co-operate with him.

The request was embraced in a resolution, unanimously adopted by the board of directors. It approved the refusal of Forrest F. Dryden, president of the company, to answer certain questions asked by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Lockwood committee, during his recent testimony.

The resolution asked the commissioner especially to examine the Prudential's relations with the Fidelity Trust company of Newark, the character and extent of its deposits in other banks, the mutualization of the company in 1915, and any other matter to which his attention might have been called by the Lockwood committee or any policy holder of the company.

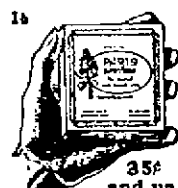

A statement issued by the directors attacked Mr. Untermyer's examination of that witness as unfair. It was made clear, the statement said, that the Prudential had nothing to expect from the Lockwood committee except misrepresentation.

Mr. Dryden was held in contempt by the legislative committee for refusal to answer questions concerning financial relations of the Prudential and the Fidelity Trust company which the committee counsel contended were controlled by the same interests.

HAVE SUMMER SALADS CRISP AND COOL

BY SISTER MARY

Two salads that might be used as the main dish for a dressy luncheon or simple dinner are salad roe combined with shredded lettuce and beets and sweetbreads combined with cucumbers.

While the roe of shad is considered the greatest delicacy, the roe of salmon is not as expensive and is very good. Best sweetbreads are often used instead of shad's sweetbreads. The beef heads should be cooked longer than the calf heads.

Shad Roe Salad

Three roes, shredded lettuce, entire, 1 cooked beet, mayonnaise, oil and vinegar, salt pepper, small onion. Cool roe in salted water, to which 2 tablespoons of lemon juice have been added, for 20 minutes. Put the onion in without slicing and throw away after the roe is done. Drain and dip roe in cold water. When cold, cut in thin slices. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, pour over oil or three tablespoons of vinegar and add enough oil to moisten. Let stand for two hours. Wash and shred lettuce and put on ice to become crisp. Cut beets in thin slices. Mix fish, lettuce and beets with mayonnaise and serve on a bed of salad.

The roe of any fish may be prepared just as the roe of shad.

Sweetbread and Cucumber Salad

One pair sweetbreads, 1 cucumber, hearts of lettuce, mayonnaise dressing. Let breads stand an hour in cold water. Parboil for 20 minutes in salted water. Drain and plunge in cold water. When cold cut in thin slices. Cut cucumber in thin slices. Mix meat and cucumber with mayonnaise to moisten and arrange in hearts of lettuce.

Sweetbread and Pea Salad

One pair sweetbreads, 1 cup cooked peas, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 teaspoon gelatine, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, French dressing. Parboil sweetbreads as in preceding recipe, adding a slice of onion to the water. Cool and cut in small cubes. Add peas. Whip cream till stiff. Add gelatine softened in 1 tablespoon cold water and dissolved in 2 tablespoons boiling water. Add vinegar. Fold in sweetbreads and peas, season with salt and paprika. Turn into a mold and chill. Serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing.

SWIMMING POOL AT Y. W. C. A. CAMP

A new swimming pool is to be constructed at the new Y.W.C.A. camp at Tynesboro, due to the efforts of Engineer John A. Stevens. Mr. Stevens, well known as an engineer, conceived the idea of damming a small creek which passes through the camping grounds, and after securing donations of lumber, gravel and other necessities, and promise of aid in carrying on the work, prepared for completing the pool. Actual progress on installation of the pool began this morning, and the job will be finished, it is expected, by Friday, when the camp opens officially for the summer season. As only expert swimmers were to be permitted to bathe in the Merrimack river by the Y.W.C.A. authorities, the enterprise so successfully started by Mr. Stevens has made it possible for many girls to take a trip who would otherwise have been forced to forego the privilege of swimming.

PLEADS GUILTY OF ARSON CHARGE

CONCORD, N. H., June 29.—In superior court yesterday George Murray of New London was sentenced to not more than three years and not less than two years in the state prison, following his plea of guilty to a charge of arson.

The arrest of Murray at New London last winter followed an exciting chase by the authorities on his trail through the snow after he had set fire to buildings owned by his wife for the purpose of collecting the insurance.

He was indicted by the grand jury, but committed to the state hospital for observation as to his sanity, which recently was reported as established.

FOR SENATE CHECK ON REFUNDING

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Senator Walsh of Massachusetts yesterday introduced an amendment to the administration bill authorizing the refunding of the foreign loans of the United States government, so that the executive branch of the government would not be able to conclude an agreement with a foreign government without the agreement first being ratified by the senate.

The refunding bill has been criticized widely because it gives the president and the secretary of the treasury power to do whatever they may desire with regard to the foreign loans amounting to some $10,000,000. Fear has been expressed that German reparations bonds might be accepted in place of the obligations of the nations owing the money to the United States.

"G" Huff Has Put Illinois on Map

GEORGE HUFF

By Newspaper Enterprise
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 29.—G. Huff is a builder of men.
For over 25 years he has been connected with the athletic department of the University of Illinois, the past 20 years as director of physical education for men. Students know him as "G."
Huff began his athletic career at Illinois in 1895. He was a member of the first football team that ever represented Illinois and was captain and manager of the baseball team during his last two years at the institution.
Under the leadership of Huff, Illinois has gradually crept from obscurity in the college athletic world to a recognized leader in the middle west.
Huff, with his all-star staff of coaches, Zupke, football; Gill, track; Lundgren, basketball; and Winters, basketball, has built well.
The Illinois athletic director knows men. He reads character like a book. His influence has done much in raising the standard of athletics in the colleges of the country.

Last year attendance at football games throughout the country broke all previous records. Other college athletes also shared in this boom.
Competition in athletic sports, as a result of the general growth, is becoming keener, which makes for more evenly balanced teams.
Illinois, backed up by Huff, is now campaigning for $2,000,000, with which to build a stadium. It will be dedicated as a memorial to the fighting men of the state of Illinois.
The stadium will furnish sufficient room for every man and woman attending Illinois to take some part in the game. It is G's dream of years ago to be realized.
The Illinois stadium will seat 75,000. It will be the largest in the country. Yale erected a bowl in 1917 seating 61,000 persons. Seventeen years ago Harvard built one accommodating 23,000 with temporary accommodations for 45,000, and Princeton's will seat 45,000.
Other universities that are building stadiums, or carrying on drives for them, include Ohio state, University of Cincinnati, Kansas University, Iowa State, Columbia, Denison and the University of Oregon.

TOLEDO ALL OVER AGAIN
—KILBANE

BY JOHNNY KILBANE

There will be all other trademarks of another Toledo after when Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier get together at Jersey City to settle the world championship.
Willard, you remember, slept easy on the suggestion that his 250 pounds of brawn could quickly subdue any contender that boomed over the horizon.
When Dempsey appeared, he then came a yawned, called about him a few fourth-rate artist artists as sparring partners, and went through the motions of getting into shape.
Big Jess was his own manager and as such he instructed "the boys" not to make him work too strenuously, because he didn't need much training. "The boys" were glad of it, of course, for if Willard had insisted on real workouts, "the boys" wouldn't have been able to deliver.
Willard showed plainly the results of such training when he stepped into the ring.
Over at Manhasset, Challenger Georges Carpentier, going through the same kind of antics. Manager Desamps turned down offers of good American fighters to aid in the challenger's preparation, and surrounded the Frenchman with has-beens and imitation heavyweights, not one of whom is really capable of making Georges step a fast pace.
Evidence of the ability of the members of Georges' camp is shown by the fact that two of them—Big Journea and Italian Joe Gans—were knocked out the same night recently by American second raters.
I believe the result of this sort of training by Gentleman Georges is going to show as plainly at Jersey City as it did when Big Jess flopped in the fiasco at Toledo.
The challenger can't get into first-class condition for the fight unless he fights. And he can't fight unless he's stacked up in training against fighters. (Copyright, 1921, by The Lowell Sun)

HERE'S TIP FOR JESS WILLARD

BY DEAN SNYDER
Big Jess Willard is denying himself a lot of pleasure by not giving his oil-burner a life of ease and slipping into Jersey City July 2 to see the man who stripped him of his title, skip with the Frenchman.
Jess should be busy, of course. But he should be busy fighting for his belt, not for a pile of money.
Although he is a pulp by Dempsey, he is far from being a sublimed champion. He's confident that he can beat Dempsey.
And thousands of fight fans believe it, too.

Fooled Done
Fred Mitchell has his Boston Braves tucked in the spring dope inside out. This spring he has been the boys from the city of culture with a spyglass.
But they are up among the leaders now.
Mitchell has been getting good pitching while most of the other National League clubs have not.
A team of mediocre ball players will perform miracles back of a pitcher who has something on the ball.
Mitchell is a real leader and the boys are playing ball for him.

Flimsy Sturdy
Paavo Nurmi, the sturdy Finn, recently set two new world records by covering six miles in 29 minutes and 41.2 seconds and doing 10 kilometers in 59 minutes and 30 seconds.
It is a record who won the 10,000-meter race at the Olympic games, falling and the 10,000-meter cross country title.
The Finns proved in the Olympics that they were great athletes. They have a peculiar sturdiness which is the personification of gameness and endurance.
Watch Nurmi. He'll break more records in the world.

Rick's Street Ring
Tex Rickard does things right. He has purchased a building in which Dempsey and Carpentier will decide which is the better man.
The ring measures 18 feet inside the ropes. It has a two-foot extension on all four sides.
Three ropes, heavily weighted, encircle it.
Over this padding is a tightly stretched canvas.
Backless and legless stools swing on long steel arms are attached to each boxer's corner.
Portable folding steps permit the boxers and seconds to enter and leave the ring.

Yes, we've come a long way since heavyweights' championship fights were fought on bare ground, roped in with ordinary hemp strings.
The Rickard Show is going to be a million dollar extravaganza.

MORE JOSH JOSHES

BY JACK RAPER
Tex Rickard was guilty of a great piece of inexcusable conduct. He should have arranged for a special session of the New Jersey legislature to pick a referee.
Short as Dempsey has a wonderful one-two looking over his shoulder, we see he also has a fine one-two.
If Dempsey knocks Carpentier as hard as the eastern sport writers do, it will be a short fight.
All the fellows who have seen Carpentier in action say he doesn't stand straight in his heels. How does he stand after the fight?
Carp let one of his sparring partners batter him and the heart to move to the inch and a half stand punishment. We know a fellow who lets his wife smack herself by beating him up.

DEMP ENDS OPEN
AIR WORKOUTS

Last Workout Before Big Fight to Be Staged Behind Barred Gates

All In Carp's Camp Nervous Excepting the Challenger Himself

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 29.—Today is the beginning of the end of Jack Dempsey's two months' training grind. The champion will, through his workouts in the open-air arena, and the last workouts this afternoon probably will be staged behind barred gates in the closed ring of the training camp.
The work will be light and may not include boxing.
The champion, dropping the last three days of marking time, is glad that the long series of training is nearing an end. He does not display any outward signs of nervousness or irritability and his hands are firm. That his physical condition could hardly be improved.
"I'm glad to have this thing over with," Dempsey said. "You have no idea of the hardships of a long training grind. It's terrible. If I was offered $500,000 for a fight a month from now I would not go through all this again. I am tired of training. I want to take a rest. Just as soon as I can get my affairs in shape after meeting Carpentier, I am going home to Salt Lake City, then on west for a vacation."

Dempsey is about three pounds over the figure he expects to scale when he enters the ring Saturday afternoon. He expects to lose a couple of pounds today and tomorrow and another pound when he dries out Friday. He will abstain from eating certain foods and will only drink water the day before the battle. He sealed 125 pounds yesterday and expects to go into the ring at 130.
A schedule of the camp already have begun the task of getting Dempsey in shape for the champion's departure. According to present plans, Dempsey and his party will leave for Jersey City Friday. He will spend the day in the seclusion of a private home in Jersey City and will be kept in seclusion until the time to go to the arena. The evening of the battle will be the longest of all, and Dempsey's handlers are preparing to nurse him with extreme care.

Carp Not Worried
MANHASSET, N. Y., June 29.—As the day for the world's championship bout draws near, everybody in the challenger's camp is getting nervous excepting Georges. He alone appears to be worrying about as much as a school boy getting ready for a picnic.
He wants to go and having lost a few days of training, he is nervous of this he has not displayed the least signs of anxiety. The escape from the crowd of visitors yesterday afternoon was not made so much because Georges was nervous as because of his camp associates. His friend, Pierre, who has increased his cigar consumption 50 per cent in the last few days, plotted to get away because he did not want Georges to be bothered.

Manager Desamps has begun to write his hands and pull his hair, and Trainer Wilson has betrayed a slight irritability.
A team of mediocre ball players will perform miracles back of a pitcher who has something on the ball.
Mitchell is a real leader and the boys are playing ball for him.

BALL PLAYERS
INJURED YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, June 29.—Five National League batters were hit by pitched balls and two injured by hard batted balls in yesterday's contests. The two injured men, Shortstop Hollister and Pitcher Freeman of Chicago, were also struck by pitched balls previously.
Hollister sustained a broken nose when a grounder hit by Cutshaw of Pittsburgh bounded back. Freeman was struck just above the temple by a swiftly batted ball, and had to leave the game. In the first game between Pittsburgh and Boston, Hollister was hit with a pitched ball by Hamilton while in the second contest, Freeman was hit by Glazner. Freeman himself hit two batters, Whitted and Barnhart. The other National batters struck were Roush of Cincinnati, hit by Deak of St. Louis.

"BOB" HART PICKS DEMP

Lowell Man Writes Sun His Impressions of Coming Championship Bout

"Bob" Hart, the Lowell man who is umpiring in the National league, and who during his connection with baseball, polo, etc., has made a close study of athletes and athletics, writes interestingly to a member of The Sun staff on his impressions of the coming Dempsey-Carpenter bout.
The letter in part follows:
Philadelphia, June 26.

Dear Friend:
As ball games are not played here on Sunday, I had a day off and decided to take a trip to Atlantic City, which is a short ride from here, after riding about 20 minutes we ran into a rain storm, which looked like the usual luck of umpires. Being rather discouraged and tired, I threw myself back in the seat and fell fast asleep. I woke up suddenly as we were entering Atlantic City, and for a moment I thought I was entering Lowell, I got the impression from a strong odor and upon gazing out the window, I spied a sign which read "Atlantic City Hotel." I was not at all surprised, and I surely realized one of the approaches to the good town of Spindley City. I cleared up soon after my arrival. After doing the boardwalk for about half an hour, I took a taxi to Dempsey's camp. Upon my arrival there I saw a line of about a thousand people waiting for the box to open. I joined in the procession and after waiting about 15 minutes, I was given a dollar bill, I with the others entered the huge amphitheatre, especially constructed by Dempsey for this purpose. It seats about 5000 people, and so arranged that everyone gets a fine view of the ring in the centre. There were about 2500 on hand. Soon the sun came out.

After a wait of about half an hour, just long enough to let my uncovered top piece get tanned up, Dempsey came out. He was wearing a light-colored suit and a white shirt. He looked off that it would be one of his best days of strenuous work, and it certainly proved to be a hummer. He worked with weight attached to his arms in the corner of the ring. Then he did a little shadow boxing. Then a fellow named Eddie O'Hara climbed through the ropes and came every first on his feet. He's about 5'10" tall, 170 lbs. As fast as O'Hara was, Dempsey worked faster. They boxed two rounds. In the second round, as well as in the first, Dempsey was the aggressor. After O'Hara had done his bit, they brought out a fellow named Miller, who was from Baltimore, who looked like a 130 lb. man. He was a haymaker, but Demp beat him to it every time, and one round was enough to stop him. Larry Williams was next. He stayed in the ring for two rounds of whitewash work. Jack Renault was the next to show. Dempsey worked a peppery performer. He worked with weight attached to his arms. He showed considerable cleverness. I saw him just before he took the title from Willard, and while he is heavier now, he is not even a light weight. He proved boxer. After this we had a number of strenuous exercises. He then started to box a hard-hitting wrestler named Bill Montana, entered and after a rather serious chat in one of the corners, the pair began boxing each other. They boxed six rounds. Both engaged in lively exchange of light taps, but they grew stronger all the while. Finally Demp swung his head about in the ring and it landed on Bill's chin, and he landed in a corner to hear the birds sing.

The coming fight will be a hummer. I can't see it as good as they say it is, but I think it will be as good as long as Carp can keep away from one of Dempsey's good-natured shots, for the challenger can hit harder than any one I ever saw. Demp's camp can't hit if he has to, for he took a lot of punishment from Bill Brennan. Dempsey, however, is much larger around the waist than the challenger. The pair are both hard-headed. After all his work, Dempsey was not even a little tired. He hardly perspired, which shows that he is in O. K. condition.

The condition all I can say is that when Demp hits, he hits hard. He sweats, the asbestos curtain will surely drop.
Good night, and good luck, and give my regards to all my Lowell friends.
Yours truly,
BOB HART.

LOCAL K. OF C. TO PLAY
SATURDAY AND MONDAY

Nixey Coughlin, manager of the local K. of C. team is far from being discouraged over the set-back his organization sustained last Saturday. He is planning to add a strong team to his team for the coming games, and has arranged for a formidable schedule. ## Geers and Geers Is a New Combination

POP GEERS, HIS STOGIE AND GEERS

Pop Geers has a new interest in the Grand Circuit races this year. It's his new colt—Geers. The Geers combination, Pop on the end of the lines and the promising three-year-old in the shafts—will make their debut at the North Randall track, Cleveland, in the meeting which opens July 1.
Geers, the colt, is owned by Frank G. Jones, wealthy cotton man of Memphis, Tenn.
Geers, the veteran driver, has driven horses belonging to Jones for many years.
It was Pop who drove Elway, the father and Dudie Archdale, the mother of Geers, the colt.
Both Elway and Dudie were at one time world's champion trotters.
Elway had a record of 2:03 and won a small fortune in stakes.
Dudie was one of the best mares ever raced on the Grand Circuit. She won more money than any other horse before or after copied in the career on the big league racing track. Jones' close association with Pop Geers has named the colt after Geers.

No one has ever held a line on Geers, the trotter, but Pop. Geers and Geers are friends. "All horses are my friends," says Pop.
"I'm 70 years old now and when I can't drive any more I guess I'll hang around the barns with the boys and the horses.
"I've been in the sulky for over 50 years and I couldn't stay away from the atmosphere of the race track."
In Ohio, racing stables have been on the move for over a month. The early spring has given trainers extra time to condition horses. There will be over 700 pacers and trotters stabled at North Randall when the curtain goes up.
Big Stables
Geers has 30 horses under his care this spring. Harry Stokes and Tommy Murphy each have 27, the largest number of entries for a single trainer.
Other drivers who have large stables out this year are: Walter E. Cox, 28; Ben White, 18; Lon McDonald, 17; Charley Valentine, 15; and C. B. Putnam, 14.
Besides his namesake—Geers—Pop will drive Molly Knight, the 2-year-old trotter owned by Sheriff Henry Basworth of Lexington, and Will Wink, another horse owned by Jones. Each year sees the same faces back again. The big leaguers seldom quit the game.
But of them all Geers stands out. His arms and legs have been broken again and again from accidents.
But quit! No! Pop will start all over again and try to make a champion out of his namesake—Geers. And he's likely to do it, for a better driver never held a line.

Weight and Punch Not Enough

BY JAMES J. JEFFRIES
Former World's Heavyweight Champion
I do not wish to cast any disparity upon Jess Willard, Brennan or any of the boys whom Dempsey has whipped. I'm willing to leave it to any man of expert ring knowledge just how these fighters stand up when the name of Fitz is mentioned.
In a previous reference to the Carpenter-Dempsey fight, I based my opinion that Carpenter would give Dempsey a hard battle on "dope" gained from my own experience in the ring. I referred to the fact that Jim Corbett stayed with me 23 rounds the first time we fought and that ring critics' opinion was that Jim would have taken Dempsey's head off. That's all. I don't know of a fast man that Dempsey has met—fast in the sense that Corbett, Chynoweth, Fitz or McCoy were. They say Dempsey has a terrific punch. A punch is as good as a beating. I know what it means to take a beating, for a good many rounds at least, from lighter men.

LOWELL DRIVING CLUB KEARNS DENIES BREAK WITH DEMPSEY

NEW YORK, June 29.—Jack Kearns yesterday afternoon vehemently denied the report that he has severed his managerial connections with Champion Jack Dempsey. Kearns, furthermore, declared that the relations between himself and the champion are as friendly as ever and that instead of there being any estrangement between the pair, he was in New York for the purpose of discussing a possible match for the title-holder with either Bill Brennan or Tom Gibbons for Labor Day. He was also killing a flock of birds with one stone, figuratively speaking, for he also received and considered several offers for the disposition of the Dempsey interests in the movie pictures that will be made of the fight.
Before his return to Atlantic City last night, Kearns declared that he had arrived at no definite conclusion regarding the picture, but the probability is that Dempsey and himself will retain their holdings in the films in New Jersey, but that one of the many offers that has been received from British and French interests for the European rights undoubtedly will be accepted.
The decision to retain the New Jersey holdings by the duo—Kearns cannot be shipped interstate under the federal law—will not prove pleasing to Dempsey. He would much prefer to have a lot of interesting events during the summer and fall months.
The membership represents a bunch of men who are out to enjoy what appeals to them as being the best and cleanest sport in the world, horse racing, and to assist in popularizing it again in this section. They promise a lot of interesting events during the summer and fall months.

American Legion boys out in Missouri sent a rabbit foot to Carpenter, asking him to carry it in the ring for luck. A rabbit foot may be all right, but if we sent him anything to carry in the ring for luck, it would be a hammer.
Jack Kearns says Dempsey is always nervous when he enters the ring. But he can have one consolation. So is the other fellow.
P. T. Barnum was a smart old fellow, but he never thought of a throwing prize fight carnival.
When Carp inspected Rickard's ring—the place he'll meet his foe—he whispered to Desamps and said: "Here's where we'll earn our dough."

COMMUNIQUE FROM THE "FRENCH FRONT"

BY MAX BALTHASAR
MANHASSET, L. I., June 29.—To the American training camp visitor the extraordinary precautions taken to protect Georges Carpentier against intrusion or possible harm are ludicrous. To the French challenger and Manager Desamps insist that circumstances, as they claim to have seen them, compelled them to make an armed and burly camp of the training quarters.
Carpentier's objection to visitors is no greater than Dempsey's fear that an attempt will be made to injure his charge.
Three sets of officers are constantly on guard, their vigilance being complete for the "open days" when newspapermen are admitted.
With the newspapermen come many outsiders and it is to them that the guards pay particular attention. They are watched closely and any suspicious movement on their part immediately brings the armed guards to the sides.
The men on guard come from a special police force from the local police and from the state mounted police. To the former is delegated the task of watching the outer barricade to keep intruders out.
They wear blue uniforms, swing murderous looking clubs and more complete than any other police force, they are armed with their revolvers beneath their coats. The local police, who patrol the outer grounds, are similarly armed and wear blue uniforms.
The state police are the real wicked looking boys. They are made up like movie cowboys, wearing denim overalls, complete hats, knaki shirts, brown army shoes and brown leather puttees. Strapped around their waists are cartridge belts and dangling over their left hip is an army revolver.
Always on Alert
On one of Carpentier's recent "open" days, an unusually large crowd was present and the guards were more alert than usual. After Carpentier had concluded his boxing, he went into his gymnasium and the guards followed him up their places in the midst of the crowd.
It was a sufficiently hot day and one of the visitors, in an effort to make himself as comfortable as possible, had innocently thrown his hat on the ground. In that position by placing his hand on it, he drew the attention of the guards. One of the guards immediately stepped forward, seized the hat and, after a moment's hesitation, quickly making his way through the crowd, he brushed the hat off his head as if by accident and followed this move-

TO "COVER" THE BIG FIGHT

More Reporters at Jersey Than on Battlefields During World War

NEW YORK, June 29.—Probably more newspaper correspondents than were employed on the battlefields of France during the world war, will be there to report the Dempsey-Carpentier fight encounter at Jersey City, next Saturday.
The Dorgan, who has charge of the press arrangements said there would be 700 newspapermen at the ring side, 250 of whom would be waiting to telegraphers while the bout was in progress, and the remainder encircling the arena directly in front of the holders of $50 tickets. It will be the greatest array of fight chroniclers, or indeed chroniclers of any other kind ever assembled to "cover" a single event.
Reporters from many nations will be present. Seven writers from France will be on hand waiting and hoping that they might cable a flash that the world's heavyweight champion, England, will be represented by 15 newspaper correspondents and five more will come from Canada.
Even Tokyo, on the other side of the world will have special writers who will have Cohenzaden, Manizaba, Havana, Buenos Aires and other foreign cities.

FINAL VISIT OF GIANTS
PORTON, June 29.—The Braves, holding their place in the National league after a successful western tour, returned to their home town today to meet the Giants in a four game series. The latter holds second place in the league with a record of 29 wins and 19 losses. Although the playing season has not yet reached the half way mark, the Giants will not be seen in Boston again until July 2, due to a break of the schedule.
The incident is related merely to show to what extent precautions are being taken, but the men in the Frenchman's camp are convinced that they are justified in taking such extreme protective measures as the possible theory that eternal vigilance may be the price of a championship.

Broadways' Victory Over Daylights Results In a Triple Tie for Twilight League Leadership

TWILIGHT LEAGUE STANDING	Won	Lost	Pct.
South Ends	5	3	.625
Centralvilles	5	3	.625
Broadways	5	3	.625
Highland Daylights	5	3	.625
C. M. A. C.	2	6	.250
Gilgriples	2	7	.222

After they had received the worst end of the battle for four innings the Broadways came from the rear in a dramatic fifth stanza rally last evening on the South common and gained a lead over the Highland Daylights which was never wrested from them. At the final accounting the score stood 5 to 3.

An impartial observer would have inclined to the opinion that the Daylights' brand of baseball averaged rather higher than their opponents and it was not until the eventual fifth, when a fielding error and a period of weakness on the part of Dolan, the Daylight pitcher, that the Broadways managed to have the slightest chance of winning. However since baseball is the most uncertain game in the curriculum of sport a team that allows itself to slip, even for a fraction of an inning, is surely riding for a fall.

The victory for the Broadways created a triple tie for the leadership of the league, the South Ends, Centralvilles and roadways being now neck and neck in the great race. It will be very interesting to watch the outcome of the triangular fight which will now ensue. If the Highland Daylights win last night's game they would have risen to second place in the league standing.

Jimmie Anastos, a product of Harvard university, made his debut on the mound for the Broadways. During the first inning he was able to stave off his opponents successfully but in the second session the hitting started and in the third he was replaced by Mulino. The latter exhibited a good brand of ball throughout the rest of the game.

A wild pitch on the part of Anastos in the second inning, followed by a single by Sullivan of the Daylights brought in Belleville for the first tally of the game. Freeman's sacrifice in the third scored Partell and Green-plate came in a moment later on Belleville's single to centre.

Then all went quiet until the fifth when the catastrophic took place. Partell opened up the session with a home triple to left. Then Mulino took first on an error by Gallagher and Gath was given a pass making three on none out. Dolan then grabbed a sharp low fly off Gleason's bat and caught Partell at the plate. Then a whorling fly by Connors and a double by Bagley put the Broadways in the lead 4 to 3.

The Broadways piled up another run in the sixth when Partell came home on a successful hit to right on the part of Gath.

That tells the story. To Mulino he got a good share of the glory for it was he who held the opponents in check while his teammates worked them for the necessary runs.

A feature of the game was Freeman's brilliant stab in right field for which he received the plaudits of the crowd. The crowd, by the way, was not so lavish in applauding the work of Empire Grady, some of whose decisions on bases were the cause of bitter grumbling on the part

FOUR DAYS OF BOAT RACING

HENLEY, England, June 23.—(By the Associated Press.) Four days of boat racing opened here today under ideal weather conditions. Seventy-one crews and scullers were entered for various events, 41 crews intending to compete in the three eight oared events. Holland and Norway were the only foreign countries to send competitors; all the other boats being manned by crews from British universities, public schools and rowing clubs. The absence of American and colonial oarsmen was regretted, as their presence would lend additional interest to the races.

Preliminary heats in the races for the Thames cup, the ladies' plate and the Wyckoff cup were rowed today. The first round for the grand challenge cup in which event the Magdalen college (Oxford) crew is the favorite, will be rowed Thursday. The crews of Wales and Scotland will attend on Saturday and present the prizes.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—McNeil Drumwright of the University of Texas, met Edmund Levy, University of California, in what was expected to be the feature match of the fourth round of the intercollegiate tennis tournament at the Merion Cricket club, Haverford, today.

In the other fourth round match in the lower bracket, J. B. Fenn, Jr., Harvard, met James Davies, Stanford. The upper bracket brought together F. Bastian, University of Indiana, and Carl Fischer, University of California, and W. C. Selman, Harvard, and Philip Neer, Leland Stanford.

The finals of the singles and doubles will play on Friday, according to Reference Dr. P. R. Hawk. On Saturday there will be an exhibition match between the Oxford-Cambridge team and six Americans to be selected from those competing in the intercollegiate tournament.

DEMPSEY'S CAR SEIZED IN PHILA.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 22.—Champion Jack Dempsey did not know until today that his big motor car was in the possession of Philadelphia court officers for a hearing. Dempsey's chauffeur drove James F. Dougherty, the Philadelphia referee and friend of the champion, to the Quaker City, where the car was seized by a 3500 judgment a Philadelphia surgeon had obtained against the champion.

Dougherty, however, appeared on behalf of Dempsey in the superior court and a new trial was set for November. The car was then released. "Dempsey will fight this thing to a finish and he believes the fee is unreasonable. He paid $500 shortly after the operation was performed and the specialist demanded an additional $1000. The case was a very ordinary one and did not require 20 minutes."

MASS. MILL BASEBALL NOTES

The Weymouths in Mill baseball team will play up in a twilight game this evening against the Bay State Mill team. The game is called for 8:15 sharp. The Mass. team will have their regular manager, and the Weymouths will do the twirling for the Mass. with Riley behind the bat. The Mass. players are out for another win, which will make 12 and make 13 games in all. The manager is receiving lots of communications from out of town teams and these are being considered with much interest among the members of the team. A game with a textile team of Worcester will be played July 16. At Worcester several other games are being arranged with teams from Lawrence, Manchester and Waltham. A meeting will be held Friday evening in the mill club room by the athletic club to discuss plans for summer outings and other important business.

REDS AND PIRATES TO PLAY OFF GAME

PITTSBURGH, June 23.—The Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates will play off their disputed game of May 23 here tomorrow afternoon when Moran's Nationals open a three days' engagement at Forbes field.

The game will start in the eighth inning when it was protested by Manager Gibson at Cincinnati, with Barnhart on third base, Cuthbert at bat and the score tied at three runs. The Reds apparently had won the game in the 10th, 4 to 3, but Gibson protested a play in the eighth when Barnhart is said to have been called out, after a wild throw by Lubin had gone into the hands of a first baseman. A Cincinnati player on the bench was claimed to have relayed the ball to third.

High School Custodian (Continued)

able inasmuch as the present list would become outdated in August. There was considerable discussion as to the salary to be paid Mr. Lee before the sum of $2000 was finally agreed upon. Mr. Donnelly moved that Mr. Lee's salary be fixed at $2400 which was the amount Mr. Walker had been receiving but the other members were opposed. Mr. Donnelly then moved that it be $2300, but it was pointed out that one attendance officer is now receiving $1500 and the other $2000. Mr. Warner then moved an amendment to Mr. Donnelly's motion, fixing Mr. Lee's salary at $2000. It was so voted with Mr. Donnelly voting no.

The committee voted to continue the employment bureau at the high school during the summer months in charge of Mr. Beech of the commercial department at the school. Mr. Beech will receive $250 for his services and will use his own automobile in his work. The vote was passed on recommendation of Headmaster Henry H.

The request of Mayor Thompson that the school department nurses be assigned for duty on the South common on the Fourth of July was granted.

Mr. Markham moved and it was so voted that the superintendent get in touch with the state board of education relative to a possible survey looking toward the erection of a modern school building to replace the Edison and Colburn schools.

It was voted to submit a contract, sent in by the Lowell Electric Light corporation for lighting the high school buildings, to the city solicitor for an opinion.

The committee adjourned to meet again at the call of the chair.

Harris of the high school. Chairman Delaney and Mr. Donnelly were opposed.

On recommendation of the superintendent the teachers of the continuation school were granted a half month's salary to attend the summer session of the school for continuation teachers at Hyannis.

Allard G. Darling was granted a teacher's certificate of the first grade and certificates of the second grade were granted Louise McKenna, Elizabeth Willmott and Gladys Lill. Elizabeth Baldwin was granted a fourth grade certificate. Miss Elizabeth J. Savage of the high school faculty were granted a leave of absence for purposes of study. The resignation of Edward J. Thompson of the high school faculty was received and a vote of thanks for faithful service extended.

Mrs. Annie T. Curley and Mrs. Agnes Coburn Allen, former teachers, were reinstated.

The superintendent was authorized to make arrangements for a kindergarten or sub-primary class at the Washington school, as requested by residents of that section.

Permission was granted a committee to conduct canning and cookery classes in the Varnum, Merrill and possibly Greenhalge schools during the month of July and August for foreign women and girls.

A petition from a group of Lithuanians, asking that they be granted the use of one of the school buildings to conduct a summer school for the purpose of giving instruction in their own language, was referred to the city solicitor for an opinion.

The Lowell Guild was granted permission to use the Eliot school for baby clinics this summer and the park department was authorized to use certain school buildings in connection with its playground work. The business agent was authorized to ask Commissioner Marchand for lockers for the Bartlett and Storey schools and to ask to have dry closets removed from the Cross, Pine and Sycamore street schools.

Home Warmth Guaranteed by HOMAKER—the Better Pipeless Furnace

WARMTH. Every room heated alike, every room cozy comfortable! Warmth, evenly controlled in all weathers, ample on coldest days—unfailing, steady, perfect—in new homes or old.

That is the HOMAKER Guarantee. And yet warmth is but the beginning of what this simple one-register heating plant brings you. That proud title, The Better Pipeless Furnace, was earned by the many vital improvements in HOMAKER'S design and structure that make for better health, greater economy and increased comfort.

By eliminating dust and dirt, HOMAKER keeps the air pure as well as warm. The handy shaker handle and wide ash pit doors are examples of added conveniences. The prevention of heat waste brings remarkable fuel economy. And the entire sturdy construction means freedom from breakage or burning out.

HOMAKER
"HOME-MAKER"
PIPELESS FURNACE

You shake and dump HOMAKER from an easy upright position, with all its dirty contents closed tight. No trace of ash dust can escape. Edgedump grate gets rid of ashes and saves live coals. Outer casing and register both oversize; heat-radiating castings are centered; abrupt air passage angles eliminated. This combination effects freer warm air circulation. HOMAKER need never be forced. Quadruple casing, inner one with a heavy insulation of air-cell asbestos. Quadruple casing, inner one with a heavy insulation of air-cell asbestos between the two sheets of steel. All the heat conserved for upstairs, where it warms every room evenly; none wasted in the cellar. Cast smoke collar runs clear through all casings. No gas can leak out. Full width ash door. No hard-to-clean corners in the ash pit.

Send the coupon today for our free book "The Story of HOMAKER." It explains in detail HOMAKER'S many vitally important improvements.

German Army Officers Placed On Trial

LEIPSIC, June 29.—Lieut. General Karl Stenger and Major Berno Crusius, the former the commander of the 53rd German infantry brigade in 1914, were placed on trial before the German supreme court here today on charges preferred by the French government. More than 50 witnesses were summoned. These were the first cases based upon French allegations to be brought before the court. General Stenger was alleged to have ordered that no French prisoners be taken, and Major Crusius was accused of having transmitted this order to the soldiers of the 53rd brigade.

Isolate Yellow Fever Germs

VERA CRUZ, June 29.—Sanitation experts in this city believe that the isolation of the microbe causing yellow fever announced yesterday will have an important bearing upon the work of combating the disease. Dr. Iglesias, chief of the bacteriological laboratory here, devised the means of isolating the germs, which were still alive yesterday, the seventh day since their isolation. Heretofore, the microbes have died at the end of the fourth day of incubation.

5000 Women to Witness Bout

NEW YORK, June 29.—Five thousand women will be among the spectators of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout, it was learned today. Many will have ringside seats. Reservations have been made for Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

Union Engineers Reject Proposals

LONDON, June 29.—The proposals of the employers of the engineering trades for wage reductions have been rejected by the unions, it was announced today. The ballot resulted in a majority against acceptance of the proposals of about 2 to 1. Notwithstanding the result of the ballot, it was stated that the parties to the dispute, were hopeful of reaching a settlement.

Planes Off To "Bomb" Battleship

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 29.—Planes from the Hampton Roads naval base and Langley Field put out to sea today to search for the radio controlled battleship Iowa, preparatory to an attack with dummy bombs. More than a score of scouting seaplanes left the naval base and were joined by airplanes from Langley Field.

Miss Stirling and Partner Defeated

WORPLESDON, England, June 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Miss Alexa Stirling, American woman golf champion and R. H. De Montmorency, British amateur, were defeated by 5 and 3 today in a mixed foursome with Miss Joyce Wethered, English woman champion, and her brother, Roger Wethered, runner-up in the recent British open championship.

Noted American Surgeon Named

Premier Schober Appeals To U. S.

VIENNA, June 29.—Premier Schober has appealed to Washington to waive priority of payment of reparations and other credits. He states that such American action is essential to the success of the finance plan of the League of Nations and other measures contemplated for the economic rehabilitation of the Austrian republic.

Bomb Hurlled Through Roof Of Home

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—A bomb was thrown through the roof of the home of J. Miljus, father of John Miljus, a member of the Brooklyn National League Baseball club, here today. A hole was torn in the roof of the building, but no one was injured. The damage was slight.

SOME LOWELLITES WHO WILL SEE BIG FIGHT

A grand exodus from Lowell has begun! Citizens are leaving their homes and kindred in droves! But don't be alarmed; the departures are only temporary. They mean simply that this city will be pleasantly represented at the championship fight in Jersey. Local sport followers are on their way, or soon will be, in the direction of Tex Rickard's office. The group may spend the Fourth in the big town, after viewing the Dempsey-Carp fight. Mr. John Burke, of the John Burke & Son Furniture and Piano Moving company of this city, left today for Newark, N. J., with a truckload of furniture, and may be able to stop over Saturday afternoon and witness the scrap. Many other Lowell residents will also be present at the fracas. Betting is heavy locally, it is whispered, with plenty of money active for both contestants. The odds are with Dempsey, as far as can be learned, but at local clubs and elsewhere there are numerous and ready takers.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Defendant In Assault and Battery Case Is Fined $10—Ofter Cases

George Sambatakakis, charged with assault and battery on George Matthews, was fined $10 in the police court this morning, after receiving a severe lecture from Judge Earlight. "You were in here a week ago charged with threatening this man," said the court, "and the case was filed. Now you're here again. This thing has got to stop." He hit him first, was Sambatakakis' sole reply. "Ten dollars fine," was Judge Earlight's sole comment on said reply.

Theodore Hull appeared in the police court on charges brought by a girl, but before the hearing on the case had been completed, the complainant and defendant were on their way to city hall to take out a marriage license. Judge Earlight continued the case a week, on condition that they wed within that period.

John P. Sousa, charged with larceny of $55.55 from the office of which he was financial secretary, told the court that he has a wife and four children, receives only $18 per week wages, and could make restitution only to the extent of $3 a week. A representative of the organization bringing the prosecution said that a week would be enough to pay the fine, and this sum was fixed. It will be turned over to the prosecuting officer by the defendant. According to the government, the society in question has branches in surrounding towns, but has its headquarters in Lowell, to which dues are forwarded.

The case of James E. Burns, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Ellen Cronin, was again put over in the police court this morning, in view of the fact that the inquest finding has not yet been returned. Mrs. Cronin met her death as the result of an auto accident when she was struck by an automobile operated by the defendant on Appleton st. Continuance was taken to July 5. The case of Earl C. Wyman, charged with breaking and entering and larceny, and with being a stubborn child, was continued to the juvenile session this morning in the police court. A hearing will take place Friday morning, July 1.

THE LEGION CARNIVAL

License Board Decides to Pursue Usual Method in Midway Licenses

The usual method of licensing midway attractions will be pursued this year at the American Legion carnival on the South common, it was decided last evening at the regular meeting of the license commissioners. On Friday afternoon headquarters will be established on the common, to which applicants may bring their permit cards and receive their licenses. According to Legion authorities, the commissioners are being besieged by more than 200 would-be concessionaires. The board listened to a discussion by Frank Ricard, George F. Wells, commerce chamber secretary, George H. Wood and others, of the advantages of regulating the hours during which jewelry auctioneers may conduct their sales in this city. The traveling auctioneer who sells cheap jewelry during the evening, while the regular establishments are closed, came in for condemnation. The matter was taken under advisement.

Officers Conney and Moore, of the vice squad, had Mrs. Adelle Robitaille, proprietor of a lodging house on Suffolk street, before the board, saying that complaint had been made to the police that liquor was sold to auto parties there. Five visits there, admitted Officer Moore had revealed no unlawful conduct, although on another occasion a case of brew was found. After asking Mrs. Robitaille to respect the precepts of the law, the board closed their hearing. During the session, Michael Crose was granted a license to conduct a billiards and pool establishment on Gorham street.

LADY CHURCHILL DEAD

Mother of Winston Spencer Churchill, Was Prominent In Social and Political Life

LONDON, June 29.—Lady Randolph Churchill, mother of Winston Spencer Churchill, who was Miss Jennie Jerome of New York, died here today. She recently underwent an operation on her right foot which was injured in a fall down a flight of stairs. She married Lord Randolph Churchill, second son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough, and one of England's most influential political leaders of his day, in 1874.

Death occurred suddenly from heart failure after a hemorrhage. The careers of few, if any, women in English social and political life have been so closely followed by Americans for many years past as that of Lady Randolph Churchill. She had literary and artistic ability, and from the time of her marriage to Lord Randolph Churchill took a keen interest in political affairs. This interest did not cease with the death of Lord Randolph Churchill in 1895, and her influence upon the career of her son, Winston Spencer Churchill, now secretary of state for the colonies, has been generally set down as of no small importance.

She was thrice married, her second marriage occurring in 1900 to Lieut. George Cornwallis-West, her junior by many years. They were divorced in 1914. Cornwallis-West at once married Miss F. Campbell, the actress. Her third marriage occurred in 1913 to Montague Porch, a British army officer.

Lady Randolph Churchill was born 67 years ago. She was the daughter of the late Leonard Jerome of New York.

DEATHS

NICHOLS—Mrs. Mary Knapp Nichols, wife of Paul W. Nichols, died suddenly last Sunday at her home in Ontario, Cal. Mrs. Nichols, who formerly resided in Lowell, had returned to her home in California only about two months ago, after having spent an extended period in her brother, Fred L. Knapp at 78 Florence avenue, this city. Besides her husband in California, she leaves her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Knapp and four brothers, Fred L., Harry P., Arthur P. and Walter E. Knapp, all of Lowell.

BRADY—John Raymond Brady, son of the late Bernard and the late Bridget Brady, died yesterday at his home, 85 Hall street, aged 17 years, 10 months and 8 days. He leaves one brother, Joseph A. Brady.

PARKER—Kendall Axon Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Hildreth Parker, of 40 Seventh avenue, died yesterday, aged 12 years, 3 months and 1 day.

GARTIN—Mrs. Nellie S. Gartin of Lowell died Monday at Newport, N. H. She leaves a daughter, Miss Emma Gartin her father, Charles Shattuck of Lowell, Vt.; five sisters, Mrs. Charles Nutter, Mrs. Horace G. Sims, Lowell, Mrs. Shattuck of Boston, Mrs. N. H. Mrs. L. C. Woodruff of Windsor, Vt. and Mrs. Mary Graves of Norfolk, Va. and three brothers, George Shattuck of Boston, Charles W. Shattuck of Westford and Lewis Shattuck of Charlestown. P. E. L. Canada, Mrs. Gartin had been a resident of Lowell for the past six years.

CROOKER—Miss Helen Crooker, a resident of this city, a good many years, died yesterday at the Old Ladies' home, 529 Fletcher street, where she had resided for the past nine years. Her age was 76 years, 3 months and 24 days. She was a member of the First Congregational church of this city.

FREEMAN—Freeman S. Hersey, a resident of this city, a good many years, died last night at the Lowell Corporation hospital, aged 63 years. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Jessie Hersey, of Lowell, and one son, Mr. Hersey of Hallowell, Me., and one brother, Emory Hersey of Dorchester. The body was removed to rooms of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

FUNERALS

BANOSKI—The funeral of Jan Banoski took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 47 Davenport street. A libera was sung at the Holy Trinity Polish church by Rev. Fr. Ogonowski. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

LEAVITT—The funeral of Mrs. Ella A. Leavitt was held at the funeral church, 238 Westford street, yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, D. D., pastor of the First Universalist church. A large delegation was present, representing Lowell, Haverhill, and other towns. The bearers were David H. Chandler, Roderick W. Macdonald, William Magee and Herbert Cogswell. Burial was in the family lot in Westlawn cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

WOULD INDICT FIGHT MEN

Clergymen's Community Club
Act in Attempt to Prevent Demp-Carp Bout

Seek Indictment of Fighters, Managers and Promoter
Tex Rickard

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 29.—The Rev. Harry B. Wyatt, representing the Clergymen's Community club of Jersey City, today laid before Prosecutor Pierre Garvan a bill of complaint in an effort to prevent the Dempsey-Carpenter bout.

A letter accompanying the bill charged the principals and the promoters with conspiring to "pervert the boxing or sparring law and also to violate the crimes act prohibiting prize fights."

H. C. Gilson, of counsel for the clergymen, said affidavits had been submitted and witnesses were prepared to appear before the grand jury or to testify in whatever action the prosecutor might take.

Assistant Prosecutor James F. Clark told Mr. Gilson to produce his affidavits and witnesses before the grand jury Friday afternoon.

He assured the attorney the matter would be given a fair and impartial hearing.

Mr. Gilson intimated that should the clergymen be returned, the procedure would be to arrest those named in an effort to prevent the fight.

Mr. Garvan stated that while he did not believe that the fight promoters intended to violate the law, it was his duty to lay the matter before the grand jury.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 29.—Another skirmish—possibly two of them—was expected today between the International Reform Bureau and Tex Rickard to determine whether Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier should be allowed to waltz each other here Saturday.

Three Jersey courts declined yesterday to stop the contest which Rickard calls a boxing bout and the reformers term a prize fight. One vice chancellor told the reformers he could not enjoin a crime from taking place and hinted that what the reformers wanted was an indictment.

So counsel for the bureau announced that they would appear before Prosecutor Garvan and ask him to tell the grand jury that Rickard, Dempsey, Carpentier et al. were planning criminally to fracture the state boxing law and that they should be indicted as conspirators. The grand jury, however, is not scheduled to meet before Friday.

Meanwhile other bureau representatives were expected to appeal to the supreme court in Trenton to stop the combat, by an injunction or any other legal paper that would serve the purpose.

A committee representing the clergymen's community club of Jersey City was selected today to lay before Prosecutor Garvan their argument for an indictment against the fighters, their managers and promoter Rickard.

Herbert C. Gilson, who acted as attorney in the restraint action yesterday will be the spokesman. In the meantime it was indicated, other representatives would appeal to the supreme court at Trenton to stop the combat.

Wholly Desirable to Have Expression of Favorable Opinion On Disarmament

Would Seem Ample if Expressed in Broadest and Most General Terms

WASHINGTON, June 29.—It is "wholly desirable" to have the expression of a favorable opinion on the part of congress relating to world disarmament and "it would seem to me ample if it should be expressed in the broadest and most general terms," President Harding wrote today to Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the republican leader in the house.

"I am vastly more concerned with the favorable attitude of the congress on this question than I am as to the form of expressing that attitude," the president added. "You may be sure that the executive will be ready to give every consideration to such expression as the members of the two houses of congress find themselves disposed to make."

EXPORT CORPORATION

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Whether the government should go into the business of buying and selling products for exports is a matter of government policy, Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation declared today before a senate committee considering the Norris bill to create a $100,000,000 farm export corporation.

"I have been a pessimist on conditions, but I think we have some things to be proud of and if all of us will get together—congress, the executive departments and the bankers—we can do something to pull the country out of the hole. We cannot pull the country out without pulling the farmers out."

Unscientific taxation was given by Mr. Meyer as one of the causes of present conditions and he urged congress to hasten relief.

FIRE TRUCK OVER- TURNED ON HILL

Driver and Two Others
Thrown From Machine—
All Three Were Bruised

Fire in Pittsfield Block Resulted in Loss of $40,000

PITTSFIELD, June 29.—While responding to an alarm of fire in the North Union block, on North street, this morning, the Morning-side fire truck was overturned while going down the hill on Tyler street. The truck turned about on the wet pavement, crashed through a fence, and Michael A. Street, driver, Edward Lynch and Henry Kudlate, firemen, were thrown from the machine. All three men were bruised, but not badly injured. Lynch and Kudlate are in the hospital. The truck was not badly damaged.

Fred Hall, a fireman, was overcome by illuminating gas and taken to the hospital.

The fire which started on the fourth floor of the building, resulted in a loss of $40,000, mainly through smoke and water. Six stores, a moving picture theatre, and several offices were put out of commission.

Telephone Eavesdropping During Talk Between Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 29.—An account of telephone eavesdropping on a conversation between Mrs. Anne U. Stillman and Fred Beauvais, was spread upon the record of the Stillman divorce case today. Edward J. Lawler, landscape gardener at James A. Stillman's estate in the Pocantico Hills, was understood to have related what he heard at dusk one evening, when Beauvais, in his room on the estate, talked over the telephone to Mrs. Stillman in New York. The witness, it was said, held the receiver of another cut-in line to his ear.

His testimony, it was said, told of Mrs. Stillman saying to the Indian guide, who is named respondent, that she was tired and fagged, and expected to retire immediately.

"Open the window and imagine that I am hugging you," Beauvais then said, according to an account of the gardeners' testimony.

HOW the BANK FEELS

The per capita Gold holding of the United States was $29.41 on June 1. The per capita Gold holding of the world is $5. These figures reveal the solid rock upon which our Currency and Banking System are founded.

That Massachusetts Bank Stocks have resisted the general liquidating movement is no surprise when one considers the prosperity of banks for two years past, to say nothing of their solid and sound future. Money will be no "drug on the market" for some little time.

So the future looks good to the Bank-man. He doesn't know it all, but you'll notice he knows enough to go in the House when it rains. He may be clouded today and occasionally feel some damp, but he knows the Sun will shine again for you can't keep a good Sun down.

QUEBEC, June 29.—The strike of the municipal firemen and policemen, which has been in progress since Saturday, was ended at noon today.

The ultimatum of the city council last night, ordering the men to be at their posts at noon under penalty of losing their jobs, had its effect. The council had engaged 117 men to fill the places of the strikers if they had remained out.

The council reaffirmed the city's determination to adhere to the decision of the arbitration board, which awarded the policemen an increase of $1 a week and the firemen 75 cents.

Lowell dogs have not been behaving as well this year as they did last, according to the records of the board of health. So far this year 20 persons have been bitten by dogs in this city while up to a corresponding period last year only 13 cases of dogbite had been reported.

The present month alone has produced seven cases of dogbite. Usually, with the coming of the warm weather the cases become more frequent as the animals are more liable to snap at anybody who annoys them. In the winter months very few cases are reported.

For instance, last January not a single case of a person being bitten by a dog was reported and the same was true of January, 1920. In February, 1920, there were no cases reported, but in February of this year three dogs attacked Lowell people. March of 1920 produced one dogbite and March of this year brought forth five. In April of each year three dogbites were reported. May, 1920 brought seven Andrew Hamilton, whose case was first called, pleaded guilty to the charge lodged against him. As the offense was a first offense, he was fined $100.

ONE BILLION INTEREST OWED U. S. BY EUROPE

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Approximately $1,000,000,000 interest was owed the United States by European nations up to about May 15, treasury officials told the senate finance committee today in explaining the administration bill to give the secretary of the treasury broad authority in funding the allied debts. Assistant Secretary Wadsworth placed the amount of interest due at $483,534,350.

Secretary Mellon said that no suggestion had been made that the United States accept German reparations bonds as substitutes for the allied obligations and declared that the treasury had no intention of inviting any such proposal. He said the only road such negotiations entered into were with Great Britain and that they had been of a preliminary nature.

Assistant Secretary Wadsworth said all interest payments except in the case of Russia were made as due up to about May, 1919. Some of the European nations used American government loans to pay the interest.

Both Mr. Mellon and Mr. Wadsworth were questioned closely regarding a loan of $10,000,000 to Italy after the war. Mr. Wadsworth explained that Italy used the loan to pay a debt to England, that England turned the money over to France, which turned it back to the United States on her account.

Finland, Poland and some of the smaller nations, Mr. Wadsworth said, had made inquiries as to the course they might pursue in regard to their unpaid interest and all had been told that they "must pay up."

DEDHAM, June 29.—A shot fired through a window of a railroad car in which persons connected with the Sacco-Vanzetti trial were bound for the courthouse, was under police inquiry today.

As the train was at Highlands station, about three and one-half miles from Dedham, a bullet broke a window in the smoking car, passing near an investigator for the defense and two telegraphers. There was nothing to connect the incident with anybody on the train or with the Sacco-Vanzetti trial as far as could be ascertained, officials said.

Cross-examination of Jas. E. Burns, a firearms expert, who is testifying for the defense, continued this morning. Burns yesterday said that the bullet which killed Alessandro Berardelli, a paymaster's guard, was not

HAPPY FOLKS

AND FRED FROG WAS GLAD SO HE COULD COME UP OUT OF THE MUD UNDER THE CREEK.

With Jack Frost out of the way you'd be surprised how happy everyone was. Ben Bunny, because Farmer Smith's sassa-patch garden was growing so finely; Scramble Squirrel and Samantha, his wife, because the buds on the trees were growing sweet and juicy and green and there promised to be a fine crop of acorns and nuts; Mrs. Redbreast and Robin, her husband, because now Eddie Earthworm and his relatives could dig their way up through the soft ground and out into daylight where they could wriggle around delightedly in the dewy grass.

Of course, Mr. and Mrs. Robin may have wanted Eddie and his friends to be happy, but when they strutted around calling "Cheer-up, Cheer-up, Cheer-up!" I don't think they were calling to Eddie but about Eddie. They were thinking of their own tumblers and how nice Eddie would like to fill 'em, poor things! I mean, not poor innies, but poor Eddie and his friends!

And Fred Frog was glad, so he could come up out of his mud deep down under the creek, and Marty Mink and Mark Muskrat were glad, because Fred could come. They were glad for the same reason that Robin was glad about Eddie Earthworm.

And Chirk Chipmunk was glad because he could frisk out of his pile of stones, and Wasp Wensel, living near the same pile of stones, was glad that Chirk could come out. He'd been watching his chance to get Chirk for some time.

Cobby Coon was glad, because now that the ice was gone, he could get at Mr. Chub Fish and Mr. Shiner and Miss Minnow so much more easily.

Munch Mouse was glad that he could come out and Oscar Owl was glad that Munch could come.

Everybody was glad about something.

TO DECLARE WAR AT END

Establishment of Peace by Congressional Resolution Near Final Stage

Compromise Resolve is Before Both Houses—To Protect American Rights

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Establishment of peace by congressional resolution neared its final stage yesterday when senate and house republican conferences agreed upon a compromise resolution, which they hope to have in President Harding's hands late this week.

The compromise embodies the house plan of declaring the state of war with Germany and Austria at an end and adds the senate provisions reserving American property and other rights.

The democratic conference, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska and Representative Flood of Virginia, called in for the final conference yesterday after the republicans had previously arranged their compromise resolution, refused to sign the report, and said that with other democratic colleagues they would oppose the republican plan to the end.

Overwhelming republican majorities in both senate and house, however, were said to leave no doubt of adoption of the conference draft.

Action on the compromise resolution today is expected in the house and finally in the senate Thursday. The conference report was presented to both bodies late yesterday.

Democratic leaders on both sides said that the final discussion would not be protracted. The republicans expect its signature by the president before the fourth of July.

Text of Peace Agreement
The text of the conference agreement follows:

Section 1. That the state of war declared to exist between the Imperial German government and the United States of America by the joint resolution of congress approved April 8, 1917, is hereby declared at an end.

Section 2. That in making this declaration, and as a part of it, there are expressly reserved to the United States of America and its Nationals any and all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages, together with the right to enforce the same, to which it or they have become entitled under the terms of the armistice signed Nov. 11, 1918, or any extensions or modifications thereof; or which were acquired by or are in the possession of the United States of America by reason of its participation in the war or to which its Nationals have thereby become rightfully entitled; or which under the Treaty of Versailles have been stipulated for its or their benefit; or to which it is entitled as one of the principal Allied and Associated Powers; or to which it is entitled by virtue of an act or acts of congress or otherwise.

Rights Under Austrian Treaty.

Section 3. That the state of war declared to exist between the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian government and the United States of America by the joint resolution of congress, approved Dec. 7, 1917, is hereby declared at an end.

Section 4. That in making this declaration, and as a part of it, there are expressly reserved to the United States of America and its Nationals any and all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages, together with the right to enforce the same, to which it or they have become entitled under the terms of the armistice signed Nov. 11, 1918, or any extensions or modifications thereof; or which were acquired by or are in the possession of the United States of America by reason of its participation in the war or to which its Nationals have thereby become rightfully entitled; or which, under the treaty of Saint Germain-En-Laye or the Treaty of Trianon, have been stipulated for its or their benefit; or to which it is entitled as one of the principal Allied and Associated Powers; or to which it is entitled by virtue of any act or acts of congress, or otherwise.

Protection of America's Rights

Section 5. All property of the Imperial German government, or its successors, and of all German Nationals which was on April 8, 1917, or is or has since that date come into the possession or under the control of, or has been the subject of a demand by the United States of America, or of any of its officers, agents, or employees, from any source or by any agency whatsoever, and all property of the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian government, or its successors, or successors, shall have respectively made suitable provision for the satisfaction of all claims against said governments respectively, of all persons wherever domiciled, who have permanent allegiance to the United States

SEARCHING FOR ORPHAN

Parents of Young Armenian Girl Were Killed by the Turks

If the efforts of the Near East Relief together with those of a number of Lowell people are successful, Mrs. Asador Arakelian of 354 Central st. may soon have with her a niece, 12 years of age, who is now somewhere in Armenia. If she is still alive, and who has been left an orphan as a result of the massacre of her parents by the Turks.

The girl in question is Vaneby Casbar, who is thought to be in the city of Yildiz. Mrs. Helen Tompkins, one of the health department nurses, learned the story from Mrs. Arakelian, the girl's aunt, in the course of her rounds. Mrs. Arakelian has not heard from her niece for more than a year and her letter to Yildiz, have been returned back. Dr. Thomas P. Carroll of the board of health wrote to the headquarters of the Near East Relief to ascertain the address of a Mr. Yarrow, a missionary connected with the organization, who might know of the girl's whereabouts. Mr. Yarrow's address was received yesterday and Dr. Carroll immediately wrote him a letter asking him to help in the search for the Casbar girl. He also enclosed a number of letters addressed to her by her aunt in this city. It is hoped that definite word as to the girl's whereabouts will soon be forthcoming.

although it is possible that it will take some months to locate her.

SAVE SOAP
When pieces of toilet soap become too small for regular use they can be utilized in the making of a shampoo jelly. Put them in a glass with a small amount of water and they will form a jelly.

IF THEY ARE WELL DRESSED
Young women will never assist a man in putting on his overcoat. Women residents of a neighborhood will call on the new-comer before inviting her to a social function. A hostess will fold the dinner napkins as plainly as possible.

The smallest metal coin in circulation is the Portuguese 3-reis piece, worth 1/100th of a cent.

FIST FIGHT ENDS FAKE RAID

Excitement at Outing of Boston Chamber of Commerce Yesterday

Many Thought "Dry Agents" Real Officers—One Cut, Several Bruised

BOSTON, June 28.—The perpetration of a fake raid by prohibition agents at the annual dinner of the Boston chamber of commerce at Pemberton Inn last evening nearly precipitated a free-for-all fight, and resulted in one of the prohibition "agents" being knocked down and cut on the head by a missile hurled in his direction.

Despite the fact that the entire afternoon, constituting the annual outing of the chamber, had been featured

BASEBALL SCANDAL CASE

Ben Franklin, One of the Defendants, Too Ill To Appear In Court

CHICAGO, June 28.—Ben Franklin, one of the defendants in the baseball scandal trial, was granted a continuance today when Judge Friend upheld affidavits that he was too ill to appear in court.

Carl Zork, who was ordered Monday to appear today despite an affidavit of sickness filed on his behalf, was present when the hearing was resumed. The defense introduced a motion to quash the indictments on the ground that they were not legal and arguments followed.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE: The membership committee of the chamber of commerce held a meeting at the Colonial restaurant at 12:15 o'clock today. A large number of the members were present and the meeting proved to be a very lively session.

It had been expected that this would be the last meeting of the summer but as a large majority of those present expressed eagerness to go on with the work even during the vacation season, it was decided that the committee would meet once a month throughout the summer.

A report submitted to the committee disclosed the fact that the membership of the chamber of commerce has increased to 1201, 161 new members having been received this month, and 216 since February 1.

SEPARATE AGREEMENTS

Will Not Be Allowed By Any Group of Railroad Employees

CHICAGO, June 28.—No separate agreement on wages or working conditions can be made by any group of railroad employees in a particular office or shop, apart from the agreement made with that class of employees as a whole over the entire system, according to a ruling of the railroad labor board today. The decision was issued in the case of clerks in general offices in several railroads who wished to negotiate separate agreements.

One of the most disputed points in the negotiation of working agreements on the railroads was said to have been cleared up considerably today as a result of yesterday's railroad labor board decision. Allowing time and one-half for overtime on roads where such payment was made prior to federal control.

The big four brotherhoods and the great majority of shop craft employees will continue to receive extra pay for time worked after eight hours. Each of the brotherhoods has an agreement for time and one-half for overtime on all roads.

COHAN WANTS BALL CLUB

Retired Actor-Manager Would Be Big League Magnate— Gives Stage Impressions

BOSTON, June 28.—Owner and manager of a big league baseball team is the next probable role of George M. Cohan. The actor-manager has said goodbye to the stage because he is opposed to the policy of the closed shop. See-sawing back and forth on the legs of his chair in true Cohanesque fashion in the bedroom of his suite at the Coplay Plaza yesterday, the man who is perhaps the most spectacular figure in American theatrical history discussed his plans for the future and named his favorite plays and players during his lifetime association with the theatre.

The purchase of a baseball club is the only thing that will interfere with his plans for a vacation, Mr. Cohan declared. He has his club all picked, but he is not yet ready to name it.

Refuses to Rate Himself Best

Modestly and sincerely George Cohan refused to consider himself when he named the men who, in his opinion, ranked foremost as comedians and character actors in American theatricals. At the Tremont theatre the manager and two theatrical associates insisted that Mr. Cohan should himself be ranked first, and they were sure that he would not hesitate to consider himself. Accordingly it was suggested that he was perhaps omitting himself through modesty. He laughed. "All I'll say to this is that I can write better songs than any other actor, and I can act a darn sight better than any song writer," he said.

Fay Bainter Greatest Actress

Fay Bainter, whose last vehicle was "East Is West," was placed on the pedestal as the greatest actress he had ever seen by Mr. Cohan, and he explained that he chose her because of her versatility. "That girl could play any role in the theatre," he declared.

William Collier was his selection as the greatest farce comedian, and he said he selected him because of his personal friendship rather than because of it. Theodore Roberts was his choice as the greatest character actor he had met in his association with the stage.

Mike Forbes, a Boston boy, who rose from peddling gumdrops in Keith's old theatre to be the greatest dancer of his day, was Cohan's favorite male dancer, and his own sister, Josephine, was his idea of the greatest woman dancer. Forbes has been dead all of 15 years, and Miss Cohan died about five years ago.

Leo Deltrichstein has the best stage presence of any actor, in the opinion of George, and Fred Stone is the best all-around comedian in musical comedy.

In black face Cohan was undecided between Al Jolson and Frank Tinney, but he compromised by awarding the palm to Jolson as an entertainer and to Tinney as a droll laugh-getter. He was also unable to decide between Frank Thomas and Allen Dinehart as his choice for leading man. The late George P. Goodale of the Detroit Free Press was Mr. Cohan's ideal as a dramatic critic.

Names Favorite Plays

"Arizona," the drama of army social life on the frontier, produced by Augustus Thomas, was his selection as the best American drama, and "The Prince of Pilsen" was his idea of the best musical comedy he had ever seen. He selected two of his own plays for pre-eminent places in American drama.

"The Tavern," he declared, was the most unique entertainment in the latter-day history of the theatre. It was a drama of dramatic criticism, he declared, "Nemesis," although not a box office success, he asserted to be the greatest thing in melodrama in his association with the theatre.

REORGANIZATION OF DRY ENFORCEMENT FORCE

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Reorganization of the federal prohibition enforcement forces along lines previously announced will become effective July 1, Commissioner Haynes said today. On that date the new state directors will succeed the present district directors and the flying column of agents for interstate work, directly under the commissioner, will take the field.

"The country is expecting a vigorous, sane and efficient law enforcement policy," he said. "Much valuable experience has been gained in the first year of the operation of the prohibition organization. Advantages should and will be taken of this experience in order that the work may be put on a firmer basis."

FIRE ALARMS

Fire in a pile of rubbish in Dummer street last evening, was responsible for an alarm from box 12, which was sounded at 11:22 o'clock. At 2:54 o'clock this morning there was an alarm from box 119 for a slight blaze in the store at 135 Salem street.

In Norway the average length of life is greater than in any other country.

THINGS THAT DETERMINE THE WORTH OF A CAR

The price of a car and the worth of a car are often widely different.

The worth of your car is determined by its readiness to meet your requirements, its constant roadability, and the permanence of those distinctive features which first attracted you.

When new parts, expert service or timely counsel are needed, the worth of your car is involved. Then you must depend upon the dealer who sold it to you.

Whatever the price may be, the cars we sell possess permanent worth.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem The Monomaniac

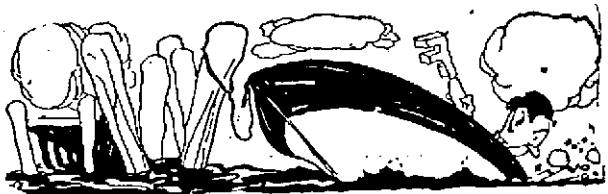

JIM JUDSON had a motor boat which usually wouldn't mote—
The engine had catarrhal throat
Which never would grow better;
The pump was tied with wires and strings, and there were leaky
piston rings,
And always quite a lot of things
That ailed the carburetor.

BUT from the springtime to the fall, when Jim had any time at all,
You'd find him in this boat a-sprawl,
All grumpy and perspiring;
Beneath the bright and burning sun he'd try to make that motor run,
His tinkering was never done,
He toiled with vim untiring.

BUT how he'd grin and how he'd glow when after hours of work and woo
The engine'd run a mile or so,
With lots of din and clatter;
And when, to punctuate the ride, it gave a cough or two and died,
How patiently he poked and pried
To learn what was the matter.

ONE day a wealthy friend of Jim was taken by a generous whim,
And gave a motor boat to him—
A neat, efficient beauty;
Its engine seemed to hum and purr with "joy of living," as it were,
And never did a thing occur
Unfitting it for duty.

BUT did this make Jim happy? Nay, he soon began to pine away;
He grew more grouchy day by day,
And bored to desperation
For when he need no longer do the tinkering he hankered to,
He died before a year was through
For lack of occupation!

A. W. McCauley Is Still Another
Strong Endorsement

Alexander W. McCauley, 22 Austin st., Chicopee, Mass., manager of the A. G. Spaulding Brothers Sporting Goods Factory, is another man of prominence in the business and civic affairs of the state to come forward with his unqualified endorsement of Tanlac. Mr. McCauley says: "Tanlac has given me new life and energy, increased my weight 25 pounds and put me in better general health than I have been for years, and I certainly think that is enough to prove it a wonderful medicine. I was a perfectly sick man for two years. My stomach was all out of order, and then about a year ago I had an attack of indigestion that left me in such a shape I could hardly eat anything. No food appealed to me, nothing tasted right, and I ate so little I was losing weight every day. My nerves got up with a sick headache, and often it would last all day. I had terrible spells of dizziness when I actually couldn't get up in the morning. I had such a sharp pain shooting through my back I could get but very little sleep, and always fell nervous and jumpy. Many times the attacks of indigestion were so severe I could hardly endure it. I finally decided to try Tanlac, and I want to say it has completely relieved me of my troubles. I eat three good meals a day and enjoy every mouthful, for my digestion is perfect. I haven't had a headache in months, and those dizzy spells have completely left me. I sleep like a log at night and feel fine every morning. Tanlac is a great medicine, and I unhesitatingly recommend it to others. Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., 100 North Main st.; by Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; W. D. Falls, Chicopee, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town. — Adc.

4 KILLED ON CROSSING

Touring Car Struck With Terrific Force By Freight Train
at Sudbury

NORTH SUDBURY, June 29.—Four Maynard residents were killed, two were injured, and two others escaped injury by jumping, when the big touring car in which they were riding was struck with terrific force by a freight train on the grade crossing over the main road from Sudbury to Maynard last night.

The crash, when the automobile and train came together, could be heard for a mile, and those within several hundred yards were startled by the cries of the injured. The automobile was picked up by the pilot of the locomotive and carried for a distance of a quarter of a mile before the train could be stopped. The passengers of the automobile were thrown beneath the wheels of the train or into the ditches on the side of the track. Paris of their car were broken off as it was dragged along the track, and when the train stopped little of it was left but a tangled mass of wreckage.

The dead were terribly mangled. The injured, who were thrown clear, were taken to the Framingham hospital. The dead were John Stensplesky, 25, of Sudbury street, Maynard; Adam Waszuta, 38, of River street, Maynard; John Lubin, 32, of 30 Acton street, Maynard; and Joe Lonsvich, 23, of Main street, Maynard. The injured are Joe Mizynelch, a poolroom proprietor of Maynard, and John Zekuski, also of Maynard. Those who escaped by jumping are Fred Brown, driver of the car, and Stanley Sienkiewicz, both of Maynard.

Brown, who was badly shaken physically and mentally by the tragedy, told the police that he was driving with his passengers and did not see the train until he was within 15 feet of it. On the front seat of the car with him was Sienkiewicz. They were the only ones in the car who saw the train in time to jump. Both died in spite of the fact that Brown jammed his brakes on as soon as the locomotive loomed up in front of him, he was unable to bring the car to a stop.

As he and Sienkiewicz jumped, they heard the crash as the train smashed down upon the car and passengers and saw the car picked up and hurled away down the track on the pilot of the locomotive.

Engineer C. T. Davis was running the train. He jammed on his brakes when he saw the car in front of his locomotive, but so great was the momentum of the train that he was unable to prevent the tragedy. Conductor Will Blanchett was in charge of the train. As soon as it was brought to a stop the crew rushed to the aid of the injured and began to untangle the wreckage.

Persons who heard the crash also hurried to the scene, and the injured were placed in automobiles and sent to the Framingham hospital. Medical Examiner Hunter of Boston was notified. He was at the point of the accident in a short while and began an investigation.

FINAL EVENT OF WOMEN'S SINGLES

WIMBLEDON, England, June 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Miss Elizabeth Ryan of the United States and Miss Satterthwaite of England held the center of attention at the British lawn tennis tournament here today. These sterling players met in the final event of the women's singles and the winner will meet Miss Suzanne Lenglen in the challenge round. Critics who have watched the games since the opening of the tournament believed Miss Ryan was the probable winner, as she has played a remarkable game from the beginning.

Max Woosnam and Miss F. M. Hawkins, opposers, P. M. Dawson and Mrs. Lambert Chambers in the mixed doubles.

EXPLOSION WRECKED ARMOUR HOUSEBOAT

WOODS HOLE, June 29.—The motor houseboat Ada, owned by Allison V. Armour of New York was badly damaged by an explosion of a tank of ethylchloride used in connection with her refrigerating plant.

The coast guard cutter Manhattan hastened to the side of the craft, took off her passengers and towed her to a dock, where it was found that engine room, upper deck and interior had been practically wrecked.

Two sailors who were burned were taken to a hospital.

Mr. Armour, with Mr. and Mrs. Jordan L. Mott, arrived here Monday on their way to Bay Harbor, Me. The houseboat, it is said, cannot be recommissioned this season.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatre's Own Press Agents

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performances of "The Woman God Changed," the big Cosmopolitan production, will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening, together with the big special musical, "The Midlanders," and the International News will complete the bill.

The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "An Unwilling Hero," starring Will Rogers, the noted comedian, and "The Midlanders," with pretty Bessie Love in the leading role. The usual excellent bill of surrounding attractions will also be shown.

In "An Unwilling Hero," which presents Will Rogers as a whistling tramp who becomes a hero against his will, the Golden star is never a "movie" hero. He is always a lovable human being, with much good in his makeup and a fastidious bit of avoiding work. He whistles his way through life, a beloved vagabond who wins the sympathy of some well-meaning people who try to make a worker of him. How the tramp succeeds in avoiding all their good intentions makes the delightful story that O. Henry wrote under the title of "Whistling Dick's Christmas Stock-

THE STRAND

Elaine Hammerstein in "Poor Dear Margaret Kirby" and Frank Mayo in "The Magnificent Brute," two of the best pictures of their kind shown here in months, will be thrown on

The Strand screen for the last time today. If you haven't seen them, be sure and don't miss the last opportunity today. And don't forget to keep cool.

June Elvidge, who appeared in person at The Strand some time ago, and who lists among her close friends several local people, will appear in the all-star cast that is engaged in the presentation of "Pina Feathers," adapted from the great stage play, which will be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The plot of the story will appeal to you strongly. Everybody, of course, is glibly cynical about love in a cottage being nonsense and old-fashioned. But take a case where love really starts in such circumstances, but where the wife soon tires of poverty, and the man frets at his inability to provide his wife with the luxuries she craves. Such a setting provides material for a fascinating picture, and that is just what "Pina Feathers" is. Out of the discontent and the temptation to get rich illegitimately, comes a tragedy to two men, the tempter and the tempted. Be sure and see it.

William Russell is always interesting and entertaining in picture offerings, and his latest, "The Cheater Reformed," is said to be unusually so. It's the second feature for the week-end.

Don't forget that there are 500 seats at 10 cents at matinees and 500 at 15 cents at the night performances.

There are over 30,000 payers of special taxes recorded on the books of John J. Mitchell, collector of Internal Revenue, who are receiving forms by mail for the renewal of special tax stamps for the period ending June 30, 1922. Since all these taxpayers must make payment before the last day of July to avoid the imposition of additional penalty, it is hoped that as many as possible will visit the internal revenue offices at an early date and thus avoid the last hour rush. All payments must be made with the return by money order or certified check, payable to John J. Mitchell, collector of Internal Revenue. No uncertified checks can be accepted.

Among those who are liable to special tax laws are brokers, proprietors of bowling alleys, billiard rooms, theaters, concert halls and public exhibitions of all kinds. Owners of automobiles operated for hire, and owners of motorboats not used exclusively for trade purposes, should file returns at this time.

With nonsense and tomfoolery, practically every one of the nearly 600 present in the banquet hall took the "raid" seriously and plainly showed their displeasure at what they considered an interruption of the evening's fun.

John Carr, a member of the chamber, was the "agent" who was knocked down and carried about the hall. Three men, obviously keen on the scent of liquor, rushed into the hall without warning, grabbed Bert Whittem and rushed him, kicking and protesting, out of the hall.

Toastmaster Hits Out

A few minutes later the three "agents" returned to the hall and, amid catcalls and hisses, worked their way to the head table where John Carr opened conversation with E. Fred Cullen, the latter chairman of the outgoing committee and toastmaster at the banquet, but not one of the few who knew the raid was faked.

"You'll have to come with us," remarked Carr. "You go to —," returned, Toastmaster Cullen.

"Now don't get rough or we'll take you out," Cullen immediately started to slip out of his coat and at the same time started a straight left for the "agents' jaw. Mayor Peters, sitting on one side of the toastmaster, and Billy R. Van, sitting on the other, immediately sprang upon the irate toastmaster and broke the blow. Cullen shook the two men off, however, and, starting another blow at Carr, landed flush on the jaw.

"Throw them out," came the shout from every corner of the hall. Carr staggered under the force of Cullen's blow and started back toward the toastmaster, evidently not realizing the seriousness of the situation.

Bleeding from Temple

Almost instantly a cup of coffee came hurtling through the air, to be followed by various other articles snatched from the tables. Something hit Carr over the left temple and down he went, blood trickling from the wound. His two companions grabbed him and the three bolted for the door.

A short time later the three "agents" returned, after word had been passed around that the raid was faked, and shook hands with Cullen, who immediately introduced them to the gathering and proclaimed that the "joke" was on him.

President Warren G. Harding and Vice President Coolidge addressed the gathering by means of a wireless telephone installed by the American Radio Research corporation. Phonograph records, made by the two leaders of the country during their campaign last year, were played in the company's laboratory at Medford Hillside and, by means of the telephone and an amplifier, the voices were carried to the chamber members present.

Aside from the unintentional unpleasantness apparent during the "raid," yesterday passed into history as a red letter day in the history of the chamber, marking the biggest, best and most enthusiastic gathering—notwithstanding the threatening weather—that the chamber has ever held in the open.

The day was distinctly divided. Sharing honors with the outing itself was the singing of a part of the Boston play, "Back to Normalcy," featuring Billy R. Van and every member of the Boston chamber of commerce. The lobster and chicken repast—upwards

EXTORTION IS CHARGED

Man Told Storekeepers They Had to "Give Grease" for Permits

BROCKTON, June 28.—Joseph T. Galligan, proprietor of a drug store here, was held for the grand jury after a hearing in the police court yesterday on charges of extortion in connection with applications for neighborhood stores for Sunday licenses. Three storekeepers testified to paying money to Galligan. Other witnesses told of alleged attempts of the drugist to collect $50 each from them on representations that they must "give grease" if they hoped to have the board of aldermen grant them permission to keep open on Sundays.

RUSH READJUSTMENT OF FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Rapid progress in the readjustment of freight rates is reported in the current issue of American Railroads, the official organ of the Association of Railway Executives.

The Transcontinental freight bureau of Chicago reports according to the publication that up to June 5, more than 1200 reductions had been made in west-bound domestic rates, 63,319 reductions in east bound rates, and 120 reductions in export and import rates.

N. W. Hawkes, chairman of the New England freight association is quoted as reporting under date of June 11 that 315 cases had been passed upon by that association from August 20, 1920 to June 1, of which it was estimated 80 per cent. were reductions.

The Trunk Line association (New York) reported that the trunk line territory from Sept. 1, 1920 to May 31, 2662 rate proposals were taken up, of which 2473 were approved. Most of these were reductions.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty wedding took place this morning when Mr. Michael McInerney and Miss Alice Bourdon, two popular residents of this city, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at a private nuptial mass celebrated in the chapel of St. Joseph's rectory at 5 o'clock by Rev. Aurelien Mearns, M. A. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Patrick McInerney, while the bride was given away by her father, Mr. Michel Bourdon. The bride wore white duchesse satin trimmed with tulle lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 503 Merrimack street, and later the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to the various beaches of New England. They will be at home to their friends at 459 Broadway after July 11.

Parmentier—Gagnon
Mr. Joseph Parmentier, assistant superintendent for the Presidential Life Insurance company of this city and Miss Della Gagnon, a well known young resident of Forge Village, were married June 25, the ceremony being performed at St. John's rectory, North Chelmsford, by Rev. E. J. Dupont. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Armand Rousseau of this city. After the ceremony the couple and their attendants went to Old Orchard beach on a brief trip. Mr. and Mrs. Parmentier will make their home at 812 Merrimack street.

CAR SHOPS WILL CLOSE NEXT WEEK

The officials of the Boston & Maine car shops in Billerica were surprised today when they received orders from Headquarters in Boston to shut down the entire plant all next week. For it was expected that the big shops would be kept in operation all this week and next.

For some time past the employees have been working two weeks and loafing one, and inasmuch as they were idle all last week they expected to be kept busy for another week. One of the officials of the shop stated today that no special reason was given for the shutdown.

FELL FROM BRIDGE; CUT HIS FINGER

Louis Diette, aged 16 years and residing at Great Hill from the East Merrimack street bridge into the Concord river last evening and received a cut on the little finger of the left hand, which necessitated three stitches. How the accident occurred is not known, but it is said that Diette received his injury when his finger came in contact with an old wheel at the bottom of the river. He managed to pull himself to shore without assistance and was taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance, and this morning he returned to his home.

APPROVES PURCHASE OF SPALDING PARK

The chamber of commerce has gone on record as approving the purchase of Spalding park by the city for the use of local athletic outfits, providing it can be bought for the assessed valuation, $2500, plus 25 per cent. as allowed by law.

The attitude of the chamber on the matter is set forth in a letter to the municipal council received by Mayor Perry D. Thompson. The letter will be read to the council when that body takes up the matter of purchasing the park.

INDICT MRS. PERRY FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

YARMOUTH, N. S. June 28.—Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Perry was indicted by the grand jury last yesterday for the murder of her husband, Capt. George H. Perry, at their home here in February last.

Judge Mellick presented the evidence in the case to the grand jury immediately after the opening of the June term of the supreme court yesterday forenoon. The jury considered the evidence for the greater part of the day before reporting a true bill.

It was announced that the trial would proceed forthwith. The prosecution will call about 30 witnesses and it is expected that the trial will be lengthy.

Capt. Perry, a retired sea skipper, was found dying on the steps of his home on February 26, an hour after he started home from a neighbor's house. The police were unable to find any direct evidence bearing upon the crime, but after several weeks investigation by the attorney general's department Mrs. Perry was arrested on the murder charge.

Mansfield Ross, fiancé of Mrs. Perry's daughter, was arrested on the charge of being an accomplice after fact. He found the captain shortly after returning from a theatre with Miss Perry.

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S DAY POSTPONED

Unfavorable weather caused the postponement of the annual ladies' and children's day which was to have been held by the Vesper Country club at its grounds in Tyngsboro today.

The affair will be held tomorrow instead. The outing is restricted to the members of the club and their families and the committee in charge has arranged a most enjoyable program. The afternoon will be given over to the children with a merry-go-round, a Punch and Judy show and plenty of good things to eat as the chief attractions. In the evening the adults will have their dinners with a supper from 5.30 to 7 o'clock, a band concert and general dancing.

Police Inquiry Under Way

fired from the weapon found on Nicola Sacco when he was arrested.

James Fitzgerald, for a number of years a pistol expert in an arms and ammunition factory, testified also that he believed the bullet which killed Berardelli was not fired by Sacco's automatic pistol.

He said that certain marks on the Berardelli death bullet differed from marks on bullets fired from Sacco's weapon.

Both Fitzgerald and Burns testified that the hammer in the revolver shown from Vanetti when arrested showed no gunsmith use as the rest of the gun. A gunsmith previously testified for the state that the Vanetti weapon had a new hammer, after Mrs. Berardelli said her husband had left his revolver with a gunsmith for replacement of that part.

LOWELL MAN GIVES EXPERT TESTIMONY

DEBHAM, June 28.—James E. Burns, for 30 years in the ballistic department of the United States Cartridge company of Lowell, testifying for the defense as an expert at the trial of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanetti for a double murder at South Braintree last year said yesterday that he believed the bullet which killed Alessandro Berardelli had not been fired from Sacco's weapon. An expert for the state previously had testified that examination of the bullet indicated to him that it had been discharged from the 32-calibre automatic pistol found on Sacco when he was arrested.

Burns said that bullets fired from Sacco's pistol showed clean rifling cuts whereas the bullet which killed Berardelli looked as though it had been fired from a pistol with an unclear lead to the rifling.

The death bullet showed indications of being fired from a pistol of the same make and type as Sacco's, but could have been discharged from a weapon of another make, he added. He said there was a foreign pistol make which had a left twist to its firing similar to that of Sacco's weapon.

Shown the .35-calibre nickel-plated revolver found on Vanetti, Burns said he did not believe the hammer in it was newer than the weapon. A gunsmith had testified for the state that Vanetti's weapon looked as though it had a new hammer and the state had established through other witnesses that a new hammer had been put in the revolver carried by Berardelli, who was the master of the defense launched an attack on the testimony for the state of Mrs. Lola B. Andrews, who said she had seen Sacco a few hours before the crime working on the engine of an automobile in which the murderers escaped later. A Quincy policeman testified that Mrs. Andrews had told him she could not identify a man who resembled her last March as the man who had been in the automobile. A Quincy newspaper reporter testified that she told him she did not see the face of the man at the automobile. Harry Kurland, a Quincy storekeeper, said she told him she could not identify either Sacco or Vanetti as the man she had seen on the day of the murder.

PREMIERS GIVE VIEWS ON ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY

LONDON, June 28.—(By the Associated Press.) A speech by Premier Melghen of Canada on the Anglo-Japanese treaty entirely occupied this morning's session of the conference of imperial premiers. This afternoon Premier Hughes of Australia will give his views.

Mr. Melghen is understood to have opposed a renewal of the treaty on the ground that it already has served its purpose and to have strongly presented the case of Canada, which is that everything possible should be done for preservation and improvement of the good relations between the United States and the British empire.

It is understood the proposal was made that the question of renewal of the treaty should be postponed several months—in which case it automatically would continue. In order to enable the Canadian and Australian premiers to return home to consult with their colleagues and if necessary, to have recommendations of their people to uphold or reject the proposals settled at the imperial conference.

Refuses to Meet De Valera

Maurice Dockrell, member of parliament for the Rathfriland division of Dublin county, a Unionist supporter of the coalition government except as to its Irish policy at home; Sir Robert Henry Woods, member of parliament for Dublin university; and Andrew Jameson, De Valera in his reply to Mr. Lloyd George's invitation for a conference with the Ulster premier and the British prime minister for an Irish settlement in which the republican leader indicated he deemed Irish unity essential to a lasting peace.

He was consulting "with such of our nation as are available," and added: "Before replying more fully to your letter, I am seeking a conference with certain representatives of the political minority in this country."

In his reply to the republican leader's invitation, Sir James said:

"It is impossible for me to arrange any meeting. I have already accepted the prime minister's invitation to the London conference."

Sir Robert Woods accepted De Valera's invitation. The answer of Sir James Craig added that he would publish telegrams in order to obviate a misunderstanding in the press between a namesake in the southern Irish parliament and himself. The treaty advanced here is that De Valera's invitation to a conference was really sent to Prof. Sir James Craig of Dublin but that, when his attention was drawn to the confusion in names, he decided to fly at higher game.

Conference on July 4th

BELFAST, June 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Eamonn de Valera's choice of the American Independence day for the proposed conference between representatives of southern and northern Ireland is stressed today by the Irish News of this city. A Nationalist journal, which expresses the hope that Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, will accept the invitation. It says representatives of southern Ireland probably would be quite willing to do so.

The Northern Whig, unionist, says the world at the present time is having an object lesson, not "in the essential unity of the north and south, but in the essential differences."

De Valera's government has set aside the principle of national self-determination, the Northern Whig says. "That he should still trot out that question, despite frequent exposure of the gross inconsistencies which in Ireland it has been employed to cloak and dissemble, suggests there is as much probability of the chameleon changing its color as the leopard becoming spotted as of the Sinn Féin being influenced by counsels of sweet reasonableness. Ulster parliament and the Ulster government are in being as a result of the logical application of that principle."

cases, but May of this year produced only two. June of last year recorded two cases and June of this year seven. The number of cases for the last six months of 1920 were as follows: July, 7; August, 3; September, 2; October, 3; November, 3; and December, 0. The total number of cases for the year was 31.

Few Rabies Cases

Not a single case of dogbite reported to the local health department for the past several years has developed into rabies. Few of the dogs which bite people carry any infection but bite simply because they have been annoyed or irritated.

As soon as a case of dogbite is reported to the board of health, Dr. Walter A. Sherman, animal inspector, is notified and he immediately takes the offending animal into custody. The dog is put in quarantine for a certain period of time to ascertain whether it has any indications of rabies or infection. If there is a strong suspicion that there is rabies, the animal is killed and its head sent to the state department of health for examination. In this way it is definitely determined whether or not the dog had rabies.

If such proves the case, the person who was bitten by the dog is advised to take an anti-rabies treatment, which consists of a series of injections. This usually proves effective. The only instance where a dogbite necessitated this treatment locally as far as Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the board of health can recall, is that of a Mrs. Chamberlain of Rock street, who took the treatment in Tewksbury some years ago.

Rabies is an acute infectious disease of animals and is communicable to man. All animals are liable to the disease, particularly the wolf, cat and dog. The disease is chiefly propagated by the latter.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

Debate Upon Renewal of Anglo-Japanese Alliance Begins at London

LONDON, June 28.—Debate upon the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, in which the attitude of the overseas dominions of Great Britain will be explained, began at the imperial conference today. Arthur Melghen, the Canadian premier, was expected to open the debate, laying the views of Canada before the conference.

Lord Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, laid before the conference yesterday the details of the proposed renewal of the alliance, together with the political situation bearing on the subject. A. J. Balfour, lord president of the council, insisted that the alliance treaty must be brought into line with the requirements of the League of Nations, saying that there should be no special British interests observed, nor should there be an imperial aspect to the convention.

DISABLED VETERAN A CHORUS ALL BY HIMSELF

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The federal board for vocational education has discovered a man whose vocation apparently is to be a chorus all by himself. He is Joseph Kaufman, disabled veteran, and is able, the announcement asserts, "to sing in three voices at one time," sounding like "three men side by side, singing in unison." Only one similar case has ever been known in the United States.

Kaufman is described also as "an accomplished and versatile saxophone player" and has been placed in a Minneapolis school of music to prepare for a career in vaudeville.

GRANITEVILLE MAN MISSING FROM HOME

Peter Marshall, a Graniteville resident, has been missing from his home since the 4th of the present month, and all efforts to locate him have proved futile. The police here have made extensive investigations, but the man seems to have vanished completely. Marshall left his dwelling on June 1, stating that he was going to Haverhill or Cambridge. He departed, and seemingly from that moment disappeared from the earth. Street car employees, police officers, patrolling routes, merchants, everyone who might be expected to notice him on his way from his residence, have been queried, but can shed no light on the mysterious nature of his disappearance.

Marshall is described as being fifty-eight years of age, 5 feet 3 inches tall, and weighing 150 pounds. He is dark of complexion, smooth faced, and has a right arm and hand very much disfigured as the result of an accident. When he left home he was wearing a dark suit with a light stripe, together with a light shirt and bow tie. If he is located, it is requested that the Abbott Worsted company be notified. The press has been asked to aid in the search.

BUSINESS STILL DULL AT CARTRIDGE SHOP

With the exception of the box shop all other departments of the United States Cartridge Co. will shut down next Saturday for two weeks for the annual general and general repairs throughout the plant.

Business has been a little quiet at the shop for some time, but one of the officials stated today that new orders are coming in and that it is expected that as soon as operations are resumed some of the old help who were laid off during the past few weeks will be given employment.

The payroll of the company numbers about 900 at the present time as against over 5000 during the war when three shifts were kept busy. During the past few weeks about 75 of the employees have been dropped.

TO AID MOTION PICTURE BUSINESS

MINNEAPOLIS, June 28.—Two proposals to form corporations to aid the motion picture business were before the closing session of the annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America today.

Centralization of distribution of films would be the purpose of a proposed five million dollar corporation of independent distributors. Another plan calls for raising two million dollars by the theatre owners for a national advertising campaign. Both these proposed organizations would carry on a fight against the Famous Players-Lasker Corporation which was attacked by delegates as a monopoly.

VICTORY DISPUTED

In last night's Sun, the St. Peter's had a small item stating that they defeated the Unity A. C. hall team, the latter being the champion of the United States. The manager of the St. Peter's at present under protest owing to a dispute in the seventh inning, when with two men on base, Fifth hit to right field, scoring both men. One of the runners accused of not touching third was immediately called out by the umpire and the St. Peter's manager was called to a meeting at the earliest possible date.

The following Unity players will play against the Oakleaves Sunday on the Fair grounds, and are requested to report for practice Thursday at 6.30 sharp: Britton, A. Sullivan, P. McCardle, W. Williams, B. Robinson, F. Trask, B. Money, H. Conlin and Ward C. Fifth, E. D. McARDLE, Mgr. U.A.C.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Alice Arsenault, aged 5 years and residing at 5 Westford street, was struck by an automobile near the junction of Westford and Chelmsford streets yesterday afternoon and received a severe cut in the leg. The driver of the machine, Frederick J. Gokoy, of 33 Swift street, claims the child ran from behind another car into the path of his auto. The child was treated at the Lowell Corporation hospital.

AT CAMP DEVENS

Sergt. Earle G. Schuler, recruiting representative for the citizens military training camp at Devens, arrived in Lowell last evening, to receive enrollments from local residents. Nine hundred of the twelve hundred vacancies have already been filled. He stated, as applications have poured in from every part of the New England corps area. The camp will continue during August and will be divided into three sections, the red, white and blue.

CONFIRM SALE OF TRACTION SYSTEM

PROVIDENCE, June 28.—Decees confirming the sale of the United Traction system to the joint reorganization committee managing the rehabilitation of the old Rhode Island company trolley system were entered in the superior court today. It is expected that within a few days the records of the Rhode Island Co. will hand over the lines to the New United Electric Railways Co. The old company intended by former President Melien of the New Haven road to run for 99 years the state's main traction lines, will then remain only the owner of a few tracks in and around Woonsocket.

The model victory arch which was to have been put in place today at the city hall steps may not get into position until tomorrow because of the rainy weather.

Sergeant J. B. Murphy, a Montana

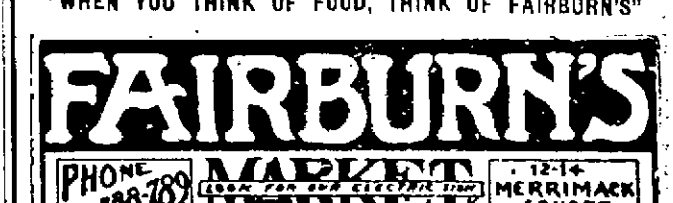

cowboy who enlisted with the Canadian forces at the outbreak of the European war and saw hot service throughout the conflict, arrived in this city today, in charge of an exhibit of war relics and official battle photographs which is said to outrival anything of its kind in existence. The feature will be one of the sixty odd amusement attractions at the American Legion post's giant carnival scheduled for the South common during the Independence Day season. Admission will be free.

An announcement dealing with the exhibit was issued this morning from the carnival committee office, on Central street, reading as follows: "Through the efforts and with the cooperation of the local post of the American Legion, the public is offered an unusual opportunity to visit an educational exhibition calculated to phy-

Race For Manhasset Trophy

NEW YORK, June 29.—Possession of the Manhasset Bay challenge trophy depended on the third and final yacht race on Long Island sound today. All three contestants were tied at eight points each. The challenging yachts Hayseed IV of the New Rochelle Yacht club and the Hayseed V of the Corinthian Yacht club, Marblehead, Mass., each won one race and finished third in the other. The defending yacht Nahum of the Indian Harbor Yacht club was second in each event.

Peggy Joyce's Jewels Seized

CHICAGO, June 29.—Jewels valued at nearly $250,000, owned by Peggy Hopkins Joyce, whose husband, J. Stanley Joyce, wealthy lumberman, recently instituted proceedings for annulment of their marriage, have been seized by treasury agents in New York city, according to word received here. Among the articles is a diamond tiara valued at $100,000, it was said. In his annulment proceedings Joyce asks nearly $1,000,000 worth of jewelry which he said he had purchased for Peggy in foreign countries.

Mrs. William Goddard Dies at 78

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 29.—Mrs. William Goddard died here today in her 78th year. She was the daughter of Thomas A. and Mary Jane Fuller Jenckes and the widow of Col. William Goddard, for years chancellor of Brown university and a member of the firm of Goddard Brothers, the largest cotton mill owners in the state. Mrs. Goddard was the leader of Providence society and was well known in New York and Paris social circles.

Delegates To International Congress

WASHINGTON, June 29.—President Harding has appointed the following as delegates to the 16th international congress against alcoholism to be held at Lausanne, Switzerland, next August. The Rev. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, Washington; Ernest H. Cherrington, Westerville, Ohio; Deets Pickett, Washington; Monsignor M. P. Foley, Baltimore; E. L. G. Hosen-thal, South Manchester, Conn.; the Rev. Dr. Charles Scanlon, Pittsburgh; Dr. A. J. Barton, Alexandria, La.; George F. Cotterill, Seattle, Wash.; Miss Cora Frances Stoddard, Boston, and Mrs. Lena Low Yost, Morgantown, W. Va.

Ministerial Crisis In Italy

ROME, June 29.—Solution of the ministerial crisis resulting from the resignation of the Giolitti cabinet, is not expected until next week. King Victor Emmanuel has consulted the vice presidents of the Italian senate regarding the situation, but Signor Casanini, socialist, one of the vice presidents, refused to accept the invitation of the king, fearing that such action would tend to divide his party. On the other hand, Signor Mussolini, leader of the Fascisti or extreme nationalists, announced he was ready to accept the monarch's invitation, although he was a republican.

Schooner Esperanto Again Sinks

HALIFAX, N. S., June 29.—The Gloucester fishing schooner Esperanto, whose bow had been raised above the water by the crew of the wrecking trawler Fabia, sank late last night when something went wrong with the inflated pontoons that had been used to buoy the schooner.

WHAT HOLDS MEN BACK

 WHEN THEY OUGHT TO BE IN THEIR VERY PRIME

As men grow older the iron in their blood is apt to thin out and as a consequence their nerves and will power become weakened and they may rapidly lose both bodily and mental vigor. A New York physician says that more than one-half the population of America perishes before middle age and that one of the chief contributory causes of this terrible waste of human life is the devastating weakness brought on by lack of sufficient iron in the blood. There are 30,000,000,000,000 red blood corpuscles in your blood and each one must have iron. When your blood is starving for iron, no more tonics nor stimulants can put you right; starving blood must have iron from the same as a starving person must have food—iron is red blood food. But when you take iron be sure to take organic Nuxated Iron and not metallic or mineral iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is made merely by the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, while organic Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach and apples. It quickly helps make rich red blood and revitalizes your worn-out, exhausted nerves. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and the letters S. I. on every label. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.—Adv

BRITISH-CANADIAN WAR VETERANS

At a meeting of the British-Canadian Great War Veterans' association held last evening in the Free church, Middlesex street, it was voted to drop the name of the organization and become affiliated with the British Great War Veterans of America. Routine business was transacted and the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: J. A. McIntire, president; J. W. Smith, vice president; R. Smith, secretary; J. Fairburn, treasurer; W. Dixon, recording secretary; J. Fairburn, Joseph White and Herbert Lancaster, relief committee; Emily Grondin, Geo. Wesley and W. Axon, entertainment committee; W. W. Lawrence, W. S. Dawson and George Wesley, investigating committee; Herbert Lancaster, Benjamin G. Walsh and George Wesley, auditing committee and W. S. Dawson, press committee.

Stockmen are exterminating the few remaining herds of wild horses which still roam the high ranges of Arizona, New Mexico, Southern Utah and Oregon. Wild horses are a menace to the domestic stock when turned out to pasture on the range. They consume fodder, break down fences and lure valuable animals from ranches. Expert rifle shots are engaged to hunt down these wild horses.

Airplane police to regulate traffic, patrol the lake front for persons and vessels in distress, assist in hunting bank robbers and automobile bandits, and to perform various other duties, will be added to the Evanston, Illinois, police department.

KEEPING COOL

Unless the meteorological records of previous years are available as a basis of prognostications, the next three weeks are destined to bring us the hottest weather of the year. It is during these weeks that the sun rides high in the heavens and sends down its direct rays to parch and burn.

There is something more than discomfort in the days when the mercury in the thermometer seems attempted to climb out of the top of its tube. There is a very real peril to many not in the most vigorous health as hospital records testify.

Those who have studied the subject agree that much of the danger of succumbing to the effects of the heat lies in psychomotor causes. There are special dangers that are in a special degree affected by the general discomfort that prevails. A condition of irritability brings an added burden to the heart to bear which it does not always assume willingly.

In most recipes for avoiding hot-weather ills is the advice, "Don't worry." Better advice cannot be given for any season of the year. Unfortunately, like most other advice, it is more easily given than followed.

Years ago, so an old story tells us, an emperor of China found himself melancholy, morose and with nothing in the world quite worth living for. He sent for some of his wise men. He set his end plight before them. It was up to them, he told them, to find a way for making existence more bearable for him. They debated the problem long and earnestly. Finally they told their lord and master that all would be well with him if he would obtain the shirt of a happy man and wear it.

Then the wise men found they had put their foot in it. They were sent forth to find a happy man and return with his shirt within a stated period on pain of being put to death if they failed in their mission.

The anxious commissioners searched the highways, byways and hedges of the empire for a happy man. Not one was to be found. On the last day of the period which had been allotted them they were trudging wearily back to the capital of the empire, and the sad prospect of having to part with their heads on the morrow.

From somewhere there came to them the sound of a man's voice breaking now and again into fits of care-free, care-free laughter. Occasionally there would be a burst of joyous laughter. The commissioners perked up their ears. Here was a phenomenon worth investigating. Could anyone who could sing with such abandon and laugh with such unrestrained glee possibly be otherwise than happy? They concluded not. They set out quickly to find the source of these unmistakable evidences of happiness. They found it in an individual lying flat upon his back by the side of a stream, carolling with the joy of living. They asked him if he were happy. He replied that he was the happiest person in the world. They set upon him to drag him and his shirt before their emperor, but, alas, they discovered that he had no shirt.

The lesson, if there is one, is to forget as far as possible, in the hottest days that are coming the material cares of life, the ways and means of daily existence, and try to be happy by forgetting that there are things, and many of them, that we want but cannot have, and by simply being care-free, avoid the menaces that come to health when strange stunts are being done by the temperature records. Heat waves may come and heat waves may go, but their discomfort and injurious effects will fall but lightly on the man who adapts his clothing and his diet to the season, who avoids unnecessary exposure, avoids worry and keeps mentally cool.

CONCORD RIVER NUISANCE

That portion of the Concord river which we can call our own, has become uncleanly again. Not in the sense that the Arkansas and the Mississippi caused trouble and disaster, has the Concord become obnoxious. No, the Concord has rarely overflowed, its banks and indeed if it did, there would be no need perhaps for the complaint, which is based upon the noxious odors arising from the lower river at the present time.

When the water is low, especially on Sundays and whenever the mills are idle for a whole day, the river from the tannery above the Rogers street bridge to the Merrimack smells like an open sewer. While the mills are idle the water is stored up for future use and as a result, sometimes the bed of the river is partly bare.

That section of the river from the tannery down to the Andover street bridge is filled with accumulations of filth which should be removed. If the scourings of the beam houses and tannery are sent out into the river, and we are informed that much goes there that is fit only for the sewer—it is a matter for the local board of health to take up with the American Hide and Leather company.

Under present conditions the section of the river mentioned is so obnoxious as to be a menace to the public health. Something should be done about it. It is presumed that the state board of health should have jurisdiction over a matter of this kind and if its good offices can be enlisted for the purpose, the local board might well start the movement.

It is time the residents along the banks of this river were protected against the nuisance and menace to health, considered by the local board arising from the part of the river mentioned.

The first step towards an abatement of the nuisance is to find the cause and start to eliminate that. If the tannery is mainly responsible, it should be compelled to use the city sewers rather than the river and if any sewer empties into the part of the river complained of, then steps should be taken to provide a remedy in the interest of the public health.

TEACH GIRLS TO SWIM

Now that the municipal bathhouse is open, arrangements should be made to afford young girls an opportunity to learn to swim under conditions that would ensure their absolute safety.

The drowning of two young ladies in the river a few days ago should cause every girl in Lowell who has not already learned to swim to seek an early opportunity of so doing.

The public bathing place on the Merrimack offers ample opportunity for instruction in the art of swimming. All that is necessary to carry the project into effect and to make our local swimming beach a real and lasting benefit to the community, is to get instructors and then appoint fixed periods during which girls who want to learn to swim will have exclusive attention at the bathhouse. The park department can do a vast amount of good by offering instruction for women to go to the bathhouse and take instruction in the art of swimming. If a girl learns only to kick vigorously with hands and feet, she can bring herself promptly to the surface even after sinking in deep water, but those who know nothing of swimming go down like a stone and make little or no exertion to come to the surface.

Every boy and girl at school should be taught the art of swimming. It is a protection against drowning that should be provided by every community. The schools overlooked it, but during the summer months the park department can do much to meet this public necessity. Volunteer instructors can be had if need be, so that all the park department will have to do is to provide the opportunity, and the proper supervision by life guards.

PRICE OF GAS

Apparently the Courier-Citizen would rather not see a reduction in the price of gas than see it come as a result of any agitation on the part of The Sun, particularly when this paper was the first to announce the Gas company's decision to reduce the price of gas just as soon as it can reach definite conclusions as to costs. We all know the story of the goose grapes which our neighbor is again illustrating.

It cannot have escaped the attention of the public during the past few weeks, that the Courier-Citizen has been playing the role of the cunning hen guarding a newly hatched chick. The old lady has been trying to get the youngster to grow, but finding it too weak to make any impression in that way, she has decided to do the crowing herself.

EXACT FAVORABLE TERMS

The Boston Post makes a good suggestion when it states that before refunding the war loans to European nations, we should exact conditions that would prevent the nations involved from building up great armaments against us. By refunding the debt, and giving them a long time in which to pay, we shall assist these nations to outdo us as competitors in armament and in trade. Why not exact the terms that we want before entering into an agreement that gives them the use of about ten billions of our money for a long period of years? The fact that our people need the money is of course an additional reason why we should move with caution in the matter. Then nations want easy terms from us. Why not exact reciprocal conditions from them so as to prevent them building up armament with our money?

MISS ALICE, M.C.

Alice Robertson, member of congress, says she is against anti-tobacco legislation, and adds that "many reformers should be reformed."

Woman suffrage is demonstrating that no organization of women can speak for all women, just as no men's organization can speak for all the men in the United States.

Miss Alice is opposed to woman suffrage, although she was among the first to seek public office after women were given the vote. She is bringing credit to herself and her sex by her tact and judgment in Washington.

Spain is importing minnows from Augusta, Ga., to destroy the larvae of mosquitoes which are spreading malaria in certain parts of the country. It seems that if the minnows have a bunch of that kind, their services are needed much nearer than Spain.

Just think of the smack "Dorothy" sent to the bottom with 10,000 pounds of lobster, while vessels heavily laden with cod sailed safely by. How many people would have smacked their lips over that load of lost lobster.

Practically all the reckless driving of autos on the highways, says Registrar Guelwin, is done by 3 per cent. of the operators. Let them be driven from the highways and then there will be safety and security.

Kick out the Mormon canvassers when they come to your door, canvassing for converts to their cult, the plea that prevalence is nowhere allowed by their church.

Supt. Kernen of the park department can win the praise of the fair sex in Lowell if he provides them the facilities for learning to swim.

Of course Governor Cox will attend the formal opening of the Legion carnival. If he doesn't he'll never know what a great event he missed.

Easily Explained

A 14-year-old girl, who came to this country from Poland two years ago, won a prize in Chicago for the best essay on "Americanization." This is easily understandable. One born in America takes its insinuations and benefits for granted; the immigrant correctly estimates its blessings by comparing them with laws and customs of the old world.

Dish-Washing

An Ohio man, suing for divorce, complains among other things, that his wife, and him help with the dishes. The judge told him it's a duty, even a privilege, to be helpful in that way. That judge ought to get the vote of every woman in his county when he runs again. Of all the drudgery man performs, there is none so trying as washing dishes three times a day. It's a job everyone tries to run away from, but ma, she sticks. Help her this evening.

Auto Parking System

In the neighboring city of Nashua, N. H., as well as in numerous other places, automobilists are forced to park their cars in the direction that they intend to take upon starting up again. The strange and mysterious manner in which motor cars are parked on Market street would seem to indicate that an application of the principles in use in other cities would prove of benefit. Why not have the cars back in, instead of out? Would not this result in less accidents, less confusion, less general bother and danger? Autos are slaughtering their scores and even hundreds every day. Anything which would, even slightly, bring down the toll, is well worth trying out.

Before and After

When Phyllis slipped and almost fell before we two were wed and one, I said: "My dear, I cannot tell you how sad I am at what you've done. Are you unkind, quite sure, my dear? Is there not some place, far or near, where I can go to get you aid? You do to soothe me, I'm afraid!"

When Phyllis stumbles now, since we together until death must be, I clasp my lips together tightly. That I may not exclaim (and rightly): "Good grief! As often as you've been along this path with cinders, you're there—please watch where you are going!"

—Farm Life.

The Berry Season

Strawberries, blackberries, raspberries, gooseberries, all on the stands now—and in another month or so the real berry season when you "pick your own" will be luring us from the city to the woods with bunches and pails for the fruit we shall capture. There are many marvelous berry patches in the country around Lowell. What an opportunity for exploring these next months will offer! Thinking of berry-picking, one thinks of Robert Frost's homely lines, which, by the way, refer to the territory "North of Boston":

"You ought to have seen what I saw on my way
To the village, through Mortenson's pasture today;
Blueberries as big as the end of your thumb,
Real sky-blue, and heavy, and ready to drum
In the cavernous pall of the first one to come!"

THE LANTANGE LABORATORY, INC.

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 29.—A charter has been issued by the commissioner of corporations to the Lantange Laboratory, Inc., of Lowell, with a capital stock of $10,000, consisting of 400 shares of common stock at $25 each. The new concern will manufacture and deal in druggists' supplies of all kinds.

Joseph T. Lantange, of 224 Riverside street, Lowell, is president of the new corporation, and holds 150 shares of its stock. The treasurer is William A. O'Malley, of 155 Pleasant st., Braintree. One of an equal number of shares, James J. Kerwin, of 235 Fairmount street, owner of two shares of stock, makes up with the other two the board of directors.

Fifty shares of stock are to be paid for in cash, 150 with merchandise, and the remaining 20 with trade marks.

BUY AT HOME

It is good judgment to buy your cigars before starting on your vacation. It has been the sad experience of many smokers when away from home, that it is next to impossible to find a cigar to suit.

We cater especially for a box trade, having a variety of brands that is unusual.

We recommend the M. Favorite, a clear Havana cigar, which we carry in a dozen or more sizes and in a fine assortment of colors.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Considerable publicity has been given the fact that the girls of the graduating class of the Charles W. Morey school appeared in midday blouses and ordinary skirts at their annual commencement exercises, thus dispensing with the elaborate and often costly graduation gowns that are usually worn on such occasions. However, the school in the Highlands didn't originate the idea, Miss Provencher, principal of the Grace grammar school, tells me. Her girls of this year's graduating class appeared on the platform wearing middie and skirts two days before the Morey school graduation. Miss Provencher had been working on the idea for several months and had also hoped to have the boys of the class appear in white trousers and shirts. However, it was decided that the rest of the trousers was too great to warrant their purchase, especially in view of the fact that they would probably be used only once or twice.

Genial Joe Lamoreux has been well placed in the police department. Ready at all times to assist those who come to the station for information or assistance, he fulfills in admirable fashion that most honorable of positions in a democracy, that of public servant. In too many cities and towns, the members of the police force conceive themselves to be a form of royalty, to whom the poor plebeian shall bow and profess all humility. When men, women, or children come to Officer Lamoreux, they are aided, not made miserable. He is eager to make light the burdens which have brought them reluctantly to the police. He cannot be too much praised for his kindness, his obligingness, so rare, alas, among some of the "blue" uniforms, to whom the poor plebeian shall bow and profess all humility. Edith Wharton has been awarded the palm, by a committee of American literateurs, for having produced the most significant novel of the year in this country. However, some dissent developed among the illuminated as to whether her work was in fact superior to the "Main Street" of Sinclair Lewis.

The most vital thing, however, is that both works present a distilled outlook upon life, and are a million miles ahead of the horrible buncombe peddled by Messrs. Harold Bell Wright, Robert W. Chambers, et al, to say nothing of the festive Mrs. Porter. Local lovers of reading which is above the five-year-old level probably know already that both "Main Street" and "The Age of Innocence" are to be had at the Lowell public library. To those who are not aware of this fact, however, it will be of interest. Why not read both works, and determine for yourself which possesses the superiority? For it appears certain that one of the pair is. And surely this decision is slightly more vital to American than the outcome of the Dempsey-Carpenter slambangfest. Not that we would disparage physical prowess. The Greeks, lovers of the fine arts, producers of unparalleled things in sculpture, philosophy, and drama, were at the same time enthusiasts for sport, including boxing. It is pleasant to realize that Librarian Chase has made a discriminating selection of the real noteworthy volumes of the year, and that there are several copies to be obtained of her new book, Floyd Dell's much discussed "Moon Call" is also on the shelves, by the way.

INSTRUCTORS AND TEACHERS EXCLUDED

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 29.—Teachers and instructors in the public schools are not entitled, in the event of injury, to the benefits of the workmen's compensation act. This is established under a ruling recently made by William W. Kennard, chairman of the industrial accident board, which administers the act.

The question arose in the case of a New Bedford man who was employed as an assistant instructor in athletics in one of the city school buildings. While attempting to show his charges how to use the "horse" property, the instructor slipped and fell, breaking his arm.

It was established that the man was regularly employed by the city, that the accident occurred while he was in the proper discharge of his duties; and that he has been incapacitated for nearly five months, the injury having proved a complicated one, requiring rebreaking and restitutions.

Notwithstanding these facts, Chairman Kennard has ruled that such employment is not that of a "laborer, workman or mechanic" within the meaning of the workmen's compensation act, and that the city, accordingly, is not liable to pay the compensation. This ruling undoubtedly means that no instructor in the public service hereafter receive compensation under the act.

Sidelights From the Adams Hardware and Paint Co. Store

Miss Meikle, our stenographer, says: "We have every confidence in the good taste and fairness of our patrons. Therefore we have no difficulty in choosing for them just what they want."

These patrons are manifesting a similar degree of confidence in our good taste and fairness, therefore they are coming to us more and more for their hardware and paint needs—and they are pointing out the way to more and more of their friends. This appreciation shall be rewarded as the days and the weeks go by, with even greater efforts to please.

We carry a big line of hardware and paints. Come in and see us.

"BOOTLEGGING" BLAMED FOR DRUNKENNESS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, June 29.—That crime is again on the increase in Massachusetts, and jail populations, depleted during the busy days of the war, are again running into high figures, is stated today by Frank A. Brooks of Williamsburg, chairman of the state board of parole.

At the state farm in Bridgewater, where "drunks" are sent, the number on June 1 was 335, an increase of just 100 over the same date of last year. "Bootlegging" is blamed by the prison authorities for the change at this particular institution.

The Massachusetts reformatory, to which are sent males less than forty years of age who are convicted of minor offenses, housed 470 prisoners on the first day of the month, as compared with 570 one year ago. At the state prison, however, the increase was negligible, the number being from 512 last year to 513 this year. In all of the institutions in this state there were on the first of this month 2930 male prisoners, an increase of about 600. At the women's institutions, the number dropped from 165 to 173.

German Army Officers Placed On Trial
LEIPZIG, June 29.—Lieut. General Karl Stenger and Major Berno Crusius, the former the commander of the 53rd German infantry brigade in 1914, were placed on trial before the German supreme court here today on charges preferred by the French government. More than 50 witnesses were summoned. These were the first cases based upon French allegations to be brought before the court. General Stenger was alleged to have ordered that no French prisoners be taken, and Major Crusius was accused of having transmitted this order to the soldiers of the 53rd brigade.

Isolate Yellow Fever Germs
VERA CRUZ, June 29.—Sanitation experts in this city believe that the isolation of the microbe causing yellow fever announced yesterday will have an important bearing upon the work of combatting the disease. Dr. Iglesias, chief of the bacteriological laboratory here, devised the means of isolating the g-germs, which were still alive yesterday, the seventh day since their isolation. Heretofore, the microbes have died at the end of the fourth day of incubation.

5000 Women to Witness Bout
NEW YORK, June 29.—Five thousand women will be among the spectators of the Dempsey-Carpenter bout, it was learned today. Many will have ringside seats. Reservations have been made for Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

Union Engineers Reject Proposals
LONDON, June 29.—The proposals of the employers of the engineering trades for wage reductions have been rejected by the unions, it was announced today. The ballot resulted in a majority against acceptance of the proposals of about 2 to 1. Notwithstanding the result of the ballot, it was stated that the parties to the dispute, were hopeful of reaching a settlement.

Planes Off To "Bomb" Battleship
NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 29.—Planes from the Hampton Roads naval base and Langley Field put out to sea today to search for the radio controlled battleship Iowa, preparatory to an attack with dummy bombs. More than a score of scouting seaplanes left the naval base and were joined by airplanes from Langley Field.

Miss Stirling and Partner Defeated
WORPLESDON, England, June 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Miss Alex Stirling, American woman golf champion and R. H. De Montmorency, British amateur, were defeated by 5 and 3 today in a mixed foursome with Miss Joyce Wethered, English woman champion, and her brother, Roger Wethered, runner-up in the recent British open championship.

Noted American Surgeon Named
PARIS, June 29.—Dr. Alexis Carrel, the noted American surgeon, has been elected a national associate of the Academy of Medicine. Under the rules of the academy, there may be only 20 national associates, all of whom have heretofore been residents of France.

Premier Schober Appeals To U. S.
VIENNA, June 29.—Premier Schober has appealed to Washington to waive priority of payment of reparations and other credits. He states that such American action is essential to the success of the finance plan of the League of Nations and other measures contemplated for the economic rehabilitation of the Austrian republic.

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—A bomb was thrown through the roof of the home of J. Miljus, father of John Miljus, a member of the Brooklyn National League Baseball club, here today. A hole was torn in the roof of the building, but no one was injured. The damage was slight.

SOME LOWELLITES WHO WILL SEE BIG FIGHT
A grand exodus from Lowell has begun. Citizens are leaving their homes and kindred in droves! But don't be alarmed; the departures are only temporary. They mean simply that this city will be plentifully represented at the championship fight in Jersey. Local short followers are on their way, or soon will be, in the direction of Tex Rickard's giant arena, utilizing motor cars, trains and steamers for the journey. Ludger L. Dionne, a well known local stockbroker of West Sixth street, will leave Friday afternoon in a seven-passenger Peerless car for the big mill, together with several other prominent local people, including Adam Guilmarte, of the firm of the Massachusetts bakery; Octave Lamontagne, member of the Lowell Grocery company; Joseph Dowling, of Non-

IN THE POLICE COURT
Defendant In Assault and Battery Case Is Fined $10—Other Cases

George Sambatakakis, charged with assault and battery on George Matlarios, was fined $10 in the police court this morning, after receiving a severe lecture from Judge Enright. "You were in here a week ago charged with threatening this man," said the court, "and the case was fined. Now you're here again. This thing has got to stop." "If he hit me first," was Sambatakakis' sole reply. "Ten dollars fine," was Judge Enright's sole comment on said reply.

Theodore Hull appeared in the police court on charges brought by a girl, but before the hearing on the case had been completed, the complainant and defendant were on their way to city hall to take out a marriage license. Judge Enright continued the case a week, on condition that they wed within that period.

John P. Sousa, charged with larceny of $55.55 from a fraternal society of which he was financial secretary, told the court that he has a wife and four children, receives only $18 per week wages, and could make restitution only to the extent of $3 a week. A representative of the organization bringing the prosecution said that $2 a week would be enough under the circumstances, and the case was continued to the next morning. It will be turned over to the probation officer by the defendant. According to the government, the society in question has branches in surrounding towns, but has its headquarters in Lowell, to which dues are forwarded.

The case of James E. Burns, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Ellen Cronin, was again put over in the police court this morning. In view of the fact that the inquest finding has not yet been returned, Mrs. Cronin met her death as the result of injuries received when she was struck by an automobile operated by the defendant on Appleton st. Continuance was taken to July 8.

The case of Earl C. Wyman, charged with breaking and entering and larceny, and with being a stubborn child, was continued to the juvenile session this morning in the police court. A hearing will take place Friday morning, July 1.

THE LEGION CARNIVAL
License Board Decides to Pursue Usual Method in Midway Licenses

The usual method of licensing midway attractions will be pursued this year at the American Legion carnival on the South common, it was decided last evening at the regular meeting of the license commissioners. On Friday afternoon headquarters will be established on the common, to which applicants may bring their permits and licenses. According to the Legion authorities, the commissioners will be besieged by more than 200 would-be concessionaires.

The board listened to a discussion by Frank Beard, George F. Wells, commerce chamber secretary, George H. Wood and others, of the advantages of regulating the hours during which the jewelry auctioneers may conduct their sales in this city. The traveling auctioneer who sells cheap jewelry during the evening, while the regular establishments are closed, came in for condemnation. The matter was taken under advisement.

Officers Conroy and Moore, of the vice squad, had Mrs. Adelaide Robitaille, proprietor of a lodging house on Suffolk street, before the board, saying that complaint had been made to the police that liquor was sold to adult parties there. Five visits there, admitted Officer Moore had revealed no unlawful conduct, although on another occasion a case of brawl was found. After advising Mrs. Robitaille to respect the precepts of the law, the board closed their hearing. During the session, Michael Crose was granted a license to conduct a billiards and pool establishment on Gorham street.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT
CHICAGO, June 29.—All events today in the men's national clay court tennis championships are singles matches, the doubles being scheduled to start tomorrow. Out-of-town players are in the limelight today. R. Norris Williams, of a lodging house on Suffolk street, is scheduled to appear today and Joe Armstrong, of St. Paul and R. A. Johnson, of Parkersburg, W. Va., are paired for today.

Fire Protection
Do not imperil the safety of your home and your family by using a roof covering which fails to protect from fire.

Asphalt Shingles are fire-resisting and approved by the Underwriters' Laboratories. Sparks and flying embers from burning buildings nearby are harmless on a roof of ASPHALT SHINGLES.

LADY CHURCHILL DEAD
Mother of Winston Spencer Churchill, Was Prominent in Social and Political Life

LONDON, June 29.—Lady Randolph Churchill, mother of Winston Spencer Churchill, who was Miss Jennie Jerome of New York, died here today. She recently underwent an operation on her right foot which was injured in a fall down a flight of stairs. She married Lord Randolph Churchill, second son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough, and one of England's most influential political leaders of his day, in 1874.

Death occurred suddenly from heart failure after a hemorrhage. The careers of few, if any, women in English social and political life have been so closely followed by Americans for many years past as that of Lady Randolph Churchill. She had literary and artistic ability, and from the time of her marriage to Lord Randolph Churchill took a keen interest in political affairs. This interest did not cease with the death of Lord Randolph Churchill in 1895, and her influence upon the career of her son, Winston Spencer Churchill, now secretary of state for the colonies, has been generally set down as of no small importance.

She was thrice married, her second marriage occurring in 1900 to Lieut. George Cornwallis-West, her junior by many years. They were divorced in 1911. Cornwallis-West at once marrying Mrs. Pat Campbell, the actress. Her third marriage occurred in 1913 to Montague Perch, a British army officer.

Lady Randolph Churchill was born 67 years ago. She was the daughter of the late Leonard Jerome of New York.
